Collegiate Record Holders

At the 2005 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships, the men's 4x400-meter relay team of Reggie Dardar, Kelly Willie, Bennie Brazell and Xavier Carter set a new collegiate record of 2 minutes, 59.59 seconds to win its third outdoor national title in the event.

Dominance ON THE TRACK

With 31 national championships in the record books, LSU has created the most balanced track and field program in the nation. The Lady Tigers have set a standard in women's sports that may never be matched. Between 1987 and 1997, the Lady Tigers won an unprecedented 11 consecutive outdoor national championships, a streak that stands as the benchmark of excellence in women's collegiate athletics to this day.

NCAA Champions

The Lady Tigers returned to their rightful place atop the awards stand after winning the national title at the 2008 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. The LSU women have set a standard of excellence for all programs to follow by winning a total of 25 NCAA team championships in their storied history.

HISTORY

RECORDS

Their streak is impressive even when considering men's sports. The lone streak that betters the LSU women is the 12 straight indoor championships won by the Arkansas men's track and field team from 1984-95.

However, when considering the dominance of the Lady Tiger track program in just the parameters of women's track and field, there is no other team in the history of the sport that can compare. Since the inception of the women's NCAA Track and Field Championships in 1982, the Lady Tigers have won 14 (1987-97, 2000, 2003, 2008) of the 27 outdoor championships contested, and have finished second at three additional contests (1985, 2004, 2007). The Lady Tigers scored an average of 74.7 points a year during their run of 11 straight titles and dominated the field in 1993 and 1994, doubling the team points scored by the respective second-place finishers in both seasons.

Not to be overshadowed by the accomplishments of the Lady Tigers, LSU's total track and field program has made NCAA history several times as well. In 1989, both the men's and women's programs won NCAA Outdoor titles, marking the first time in history that one school claimed both the men's and women's outdoor national championships during the same season. It went on to repeat the feat in 1990, again rewriting NCAA track and field history. In 2004, LSU once again became the first school to ever sweep both the men's and women's national crowns at the NCAA Indoor Championships.

In addition to the program's team success, former LSU great Xavier Carter made history at the 2006 NCAA Outdoor Championships by becoming the first collegiate athlete since Ohio State's Jesse Owens in 1936 to win four individual titles at a single NCAA meet. Carter won titles in the 100 meters, 400 meters, 4x100-meter relay and 4x400-meter relay.

As the 2009 season approaches, the Tigers and Lady Tigers are poised to challenge for national championships during both the indoor and outdoor seasons following another remarkable season a year ago. Head coach Dennis Shaver will lead two of the nation's more talented squads as they look to carry the torch for this storied LSU program.

Bernie Moore Track Stadium

Home OF THE CHAMPIONS

The heart of any track and field program lies in its facility. LSU is fortunate enough to own one of the finest track facilities in America and the world in the Bernie Moore Track Stadium.

The Bernie Moore Track Stadium last played host to the NCAA Outdoor Track & Field Championships during the 2002 season.

The stadium was named in 1971 after legendary head coach Bernie Moore, who guided the LSU track and field program for 18 years (1930-47) and led the Tigers to their first NCAA Championship in 1933, as well as 12 SEC crowns.

In 1969, prior to its naming after Moore, the stadium was laid with a tartan surface making it one of a select few all-weather tracks in the United States and a perfect host site for many of the track world's elite events. A sampling of these prestigious competitions include the NCAA Championships in 1973 and 1981, the 1982 TAC National Decathlon Championships, the 1982 Decathlon Dual Meet with West Germany, the 1984 SEC Championships and the 1984 TAC National Junior Olympics.

Further renovations were completed at the Bernie Moore Stadium in 1987, as $1.3 million was spent to lay the nine-lane 400-meter oval track with Rekotran just in time for the NCAA Outdoor Championships. In addition, the nine-lane infield straightaway -- the first of its kind in the world -- was installed. The facility's improvements and new benefits were seen immediately as 12 NCAA meet records and three collegiate records were set at the national meet that year.

With the reputation as one of the finest track facilities in the country firmly intact, Bernie Moore Stadium went on to serve as host for several more prestigious track and field events, including the 1993 National Senior Olympics and the 1993 USATF National Junior Olympics.

In order to keep up with the advancements of the sport, Bernie Moore Stadium once again underwent massive renovations in 1999. That year, a brand new nine-lane 400-meter oval track was laid by Martin Surfacing, the makers of the 1984 Los Angeles Olympic track. In addition, the stadium's signature nine-lane infield sprint straightaway was also resurfaced. The new 400-meter oval now features fine 42-inch lanes, while the infield sprint straightaway sports 48-inch lanes.

The Bernie Moore Stadium's field event areas are equally as impressive. The facility contains three dual-directional long/triple jump runways (six pits), a huge high jump apron that can accommodate three simultaneous competitions, a choice of four pole vault directions, two separate shot put areas, a choice of three wind-directional discus areas, two hammer cages and a synthetic javelin runway.

These latest renovations made Bernie Moore Stadium the perfect site for additional elite track and field competitions. Most recently, LSU played host to the 2002 NCAA Outdoor Championships and the 2004 NCAA Midwest Regional Championships.

Carl Maddox Fieldhouse

Built in 1975, the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse features a 200-meter unbanked track, elevated jump runways, a variety of throwing areas and multiple high jump and vaulting areas. With a seating capacity of 3,000, the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse is an ideal place to catch LSU's national champion track and field team in action during the indoor season.

Plaza of Champions

In conjunction with the brand new LSU basketball practice facility scheduled for completion in 2009, the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse will feature a Plaza of Champions at its east entrance. The plaza will not only add to the beauty of the LSU campus, but it will also provide patrons easy and convenient access to the facility.

Facility UPGRADES

Main Entrance

The proposed main entrance of the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse will certainly provide an inviting atmosphere for fans to come inside and see many of the world's premier track and field athletes in action.

Indoor Layout

Among the proposed upgrades to the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse is a state-of-the-art hydraulic banked track to rival the very best the sport has to offer. The infield will also include a pole vault runway and high jump pit toward the west end of the arena, as well as two jumps runways facing east and a pair of dual purpose throws fields to accommodate the premier athletes in the sport.

◀ New Display Board

Not only will fans have the opportunity to view all of the action from the comfort of the newly proposed seating area, but they will also be able to follow the competition on a newly-installed display board on the east wall of the Maddox Fieldhouse. They will be able to view live video of the events, as well as full results as they are reported.

▲ Hydraulic Track

LSU produces many of the world's top track athletes year in and year out, and the Tigers and Lady Tigers will have the opportunity to train and compete against the very best on a brand new 200-meter hydraulic banked track at the Maddox Fieldhouse. The proposed track is sure to rival the very best in all of indoor track and field.

◀ Seating Renovations

Among the amenities to be included in the interior of the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse is brand new seating to accommodate 3,000 fans. It will also feature a newly-renovated press facility to ensure the Tigers and Lady Tigers receive the coverage they deserve, as well as four lavishly-furnished suites for fans to enjoy the best competition the sport has to offer.

Renovating Bernie Moore

Not only are plans in the works for a full-scale renovation of the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse, but a total facelift is expected for the Bernie Moore Track Stadium in the coming years. As part of the renovation, a brand new grandstand will be built on the east side of the facility adjacent to the Pete Maravich Assembly Center, increasing the capacity of the Bernie Moore Track Stadium to 12,000. Not only that, but six lavish suites will be added to ensure that Tiger fans can watch the world's best athletes in comfort they won't find anywhere else.

Like the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse, the outdoor track is also set to receive a brand new state-of-the-art video display board that will be installed at the north end of the stadium.

While more than doubling its current capacity by building a grandstand on the east side of the stadium, the full surface area of the outdoor track is set for renovation to ensure that the world-class athletes who train and compete at LSU have the opportunity to reach their potential in competition. The 400-meter oval at the Bernie Moore Track Stadium will be completely rebuilt, and the finish line will be moved from its current location on the west side of the stadium to the east side to accommodate the south breezes common to the facility.

Not only that, but the Bernie Moore Track Stadium will experience major renovations to its infield, in addition to the surrounding track. The layout of the infield will be almost identical to what is currently being used as it will feature two high jump pits, two multi-directional pole vault runways, two multi-directional jumps runways and two competition shots with six shot put circles.

The throws field will also be redesigned to accommodate two javelin runways and two throws cages for hammer and discus athletes. Fans, coaches and athletes alike will be able to see the world's best throwers in action with the addition of two new seating areas located just beyond the south end of the track.

These renovations and more are sure to make the Bernie Moore Track Stadium one of the finest outdoor facilities in the country as LSU seeks to continue its tradition of developing the very best athletes the sport has to offer.

Champions Day at the White House

President Bush congratulates LaTavia Thomas and Kelly Baptiste on the stage following his address to the team.

President Bush addressed 11 national championship teams on Champions Day at the White House on Nov. 12, 2008.

President George W. Bush welcomed the national champion LSU women's track and field team to the White House for Champions Day on Nov. 12, 2008, in honor of its victory at the 2008 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa.

The trip marked the first time since 2002 that the Lady Tigers made the distinguished trip to the nation's capital after winning its 25th NCAA title in the program's storied history. The teams have now combined for a total of 31 team titles at the NCAA Championships as the Tigers have won six of their own.

"It's a tremendous honor for our team to have been invited to the White House, and this is a time that I'm sure our athletes will always remember," said LSU head coach Dennis Shaver. "I'm proud of both of our teams for what they were able to accomplish last season. To be honored by the President with his hospitality is a great reward for their hard work."

Among the Lady Tigers who made the trip to the White House were those who represented LSU at the NCAA Outdoor Championships, which included 15 student-athletes in all.

Those being honored by President Bush during the festivities were Kelly Baptiste, Angel Boyd, Juanita Broadus, Nedra Gross, Brittany Hall, Samantha

Henry, Deonna Lawrence, Andrea Linton, Brooklynn Morris, Jessica Ohanaja, Katelyn Rodrigue, LaTavia Thomas, Kayann Thompson, Kenyanna Wilson and Nickiesha Wilson.

During the ceremony, Baptiste and Thomas presented President Bush with a wooden box that had the LSU logo and the phrase "NCAA Track & Field National Champions 2008" laser inscribed on the front, as well as "George W. Bush" and "President of the United States of America" on the inside of the top. The box contained a leather jacket specific to the LSU track and field team. President Bush was also presented with a purple and gold national championship baton signed by each member of the team who made the trip to the White House.

Not only was the Lady Tigers' victory at the 2008 NCAA Outdoor Championships the 25th team title in program history, but it was also the first national championship for eight seniors who were wearing the LSU uniform for the last time. LSU ended a five-year drought with its first title since winning the team championship at the 2004 NCAA Indoor Championships.

The 25 national championships won by the LSU women's track and field team is more than any other women's program in the history of collegiate athletics.

The LSU track and field program certainly made its presence felt at the 2008 Olympic Games as 12 Tigers and Lady Tigers past and present made the trip to Beijing, China, to compete against the world's best athletes in the sport's most prestigious competition. In fact, LSU had more track and field athletes qualify for the Beijing Games than any other collegiate program with seven countries represented in all, including the United States, Bahamas, Grenada, Guyana, Jamaica, Liberia and Trinidad and Tobago.

Richard Thompson following the medal ceremony for the 100-meter dash.

GAMES OF THE XXIX Olympiad

Senior Richard Thompson of Trinidad and Tobago carried the torch for the LSU program by winning a pair of silver medals in his Olympics debut.

With the spotlight shining brightly on American Tyson Gay and Jamaicans Usain Bolt and Asafa Powell entering the first round of 100-meter qualifying, the only question was where they would place on the medal podium after racing in the final. Thompson was an afterthought, despite lining up with the fifth-fastest time in the world of all the 100-meter sprinters in Beijing.

After cruising through three rounds of qualifying while matching his personal best with a time of 9.93 seconds in the semifinals, Thompson returned to the track two hours later and took his mark in lane five with Bolt to his left and American Walter Dix to his right. The stage was set for a dramatic conclusion to perhaps the most anticipated 100-meter final in the history of the Olympic Games, and Thompson did not disappoint.

Thompson was the first in the eight-man field to fire out of the blocks with a 0.133 reaction time and raced to the finish line with a new personal best of 9.89 to win the silver medal for both his country and LSU in his debut. He is LSU's first-ever medalist in the 100-meter dash and is the school's second individual Olympic medalist in the sprint events all-time after former Tiger standout Derrick Brew won a bronze medal in the 400-meter dash in Athens, Greece, four years ago.

But Thompson didn't stop there as he went on to anchor his country's 4x100-meter relay team to a silver medal to put an exclamation point on a truly unforgettable season.

Did You Know? LSU was represented by more track and field athletes at the 2008 Olympic Games than any other collegiate program as 12 Tigers and Lady Tigers made the trip to Beijing.

The 2008 season also saw the emergence of former Lady Tiger star Lolo Jones as the world's premier sprint hurdler with her dominating victory in the 100 hurdles at the U.S. Olympic Trials. Jones carried the title of gold-medal favorite into the finals of her first career Olympic Games after setting a world-leading and personal-best time of 12.43 in the semifinals in Beijing.

And Jones could already see the gold medal being placed around her neck after racing out to a commanding lead over the rest of the field through eight hurdles in the final. But dreams of Olympic gold were dashed in a split second as she failed to clear the ninth hurdle of the race with the same ease that she has shown throughout her career. With a comfortable two-meter lead on the rest of the field, Jones raised her right leg to clear the hurdle but sent it crashing to the track in an instant. She struggled to keep her balance over the last hurdle and finished in seventh place.

Despite her misfortune in Beijing, Jones showed the grace and class that has endeared her to fans of American track and field throughout her career. An editorial printed in the Aug. 20, 2008, edition of the Los Angeles Times said it best that "A champion is the class of the field. No one in these Olympics has shown any more class than Lolo Jones."

While Thompson and Jones were the most recognizable LSU stars to compete in Beijing, they were not alone as former Lady Tiger Muna Lee represented the United States well after earning a fourth-place finish in the 200 meters and a fifth-place finish in the 100 meters. For Lee, it was her second career appearance in the Olympic Games after competing in Athens in 2004.

One Tiger also received the honor of carrying his nation's flag during the opening ceremonies as former LSU star Alleyne Francique led the Grenada contingent around the track and onto the infield of the "Bird's Nest" National Stadium on opening night. Francique competed in the 400 meters at the Olympics for the second time in his career. Like Francique, former Lady Tiger half-miler Marian Burnett of Guyana made her second appearance, while Laverne Eve of the Bahamas threw the javelin for a school-record fourth time at the Olympic Games.

Also making their Olympics debut in Beijing were Kelly Baptiste (Trinidad and Tobago), Neisha Bernard-Thomas (Grenada), Sherry Fletcher (Grenada), Isa Phillips (Jamaica), Nickiesha Wilson (Jamaica) and Siraj Williams (Liberia).

Track Stars ON THE GRIDIRON

Trindon Holliday

A five-time All-American on the track, Trindon Holliday cemented his position among the elite sprinters in collegiate track and field in 2008 with a runner-up finish in the 60 meters at the NCAA Indoor Championships followed by a third-place finish in the 100 meters at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. He also anchored the Tigers' 4x100-meter relay to a national title at the outdoor national meet last season while clocking the sixth-fastest time in collegiate history at 38.42 seconds. A U.S. Olympic Trials semifinalist in 2008, his personal best of 10.02 in the 100-meter dash ranks No. 2 all-time at LSU. In addition to his exploits on the track, the Zachary native has proven to be one of the nation's most electrifying return specialists on the football field over the last three seasons with two career kickoff returns for touchdowns. He also returned a punt 92 yards for a touchdown in a 41-3 win over North Texas on Sept. 13 of this year before finishing the game with 163 punt return yards, which is the second most in a single game in the history of the Southeastern Conference. Holliday has averaged 25.1 yards per return in his career at LSU.

Ricky Jean-Francois

Ricky Jean-Francois is one of the more dominant defensive linemen in all of college football, and proved as much while leading the Tigers to a 38-24 win over Ohio State in the BCS National Championship Game in New Orleans on Jan. 7, 2008. Jean-Francois was named the game's Defensive MVP after recording six tackles with 1.5 tackles for loss and a sack to go along with a blocked field goal in the win. A feared pass rusher and relentless run stuffer at defensive tackle, Jean-Francois burst onto the scene in 2006 when he was named a Freshman All-American by The Sporting News after wreaking havoc on opposing quarterbacks. He proved to be a key component of the nation's top-ranked defensive unit as he finished the regular season with 27 tackles, 5.5 tackles for loss, three sacks and a blocked field goal. He has also enjoyed a successful career as a member of LSU's track and field team after qualifying for the NCAA Outdoor Championships in the shot put for the first time in 2008, while earning All-SEC honors with a second-place finish in the event at the SEC Indoor Championships in 2006.

LSU boasts one of the proudest traditions in all of collegiate athletics with many of its student-athletes enjoying great success competing in both track and field and on the gridiron. In fact, 13 football standouts have earned All-America honors on the track during their careers at LSU.

Bennie Brazell

Brazell finished his career as the only athlete in the school's storied history to compete on national championship teams in two different sports. He led the men's track team to an outdoor national title in 2002 followed by an indoor national title in 2004, while also playing wide receiver on LSU's national championship football team in 2003.

Xavier Carter

Carter, who came to LSU in 2004 as arguably the No. 1 wide receiver recruit in the country, enjoyed the most prolific two-year career in the history of the men's track and field program with a school-record tying seven individual national titles and a total of 10 All-America honors.

Shawn Burks

An All-American performer in the javelin during his four-year career in Baton Rouge, Burks was a dominating middle linebacker for the Tigers under former head coach Bill Arnsparger as he earned a pair of All-SEC selections in 1984 and 1985.

Chris Cummings

A four-time letterwinner as a starting cornerback for then head coach Gerry DiNardo, Cummings also enjoyed a stellar career on the oval with five career All-America honors and a trio of SEC titles from 1995-98. He doubled as the 100-meter and 200-meter champion at the SEC Outdoor Championships in 1997.

Billy Cannon

One of the true legends of college football in the South, Billy Cannon cemented his place in LSU lore as the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner after leading the Tigers to a national championship in 1958. Cannon's most memorable performance came in 1959 against Ole Miss when No. 1 LSU trailed No. 3 Ole Miss 3-0 in the fourth quarter. He fielded a punt, broke seven tackles and returned it 89 yards for the 7-3 victory. A two-sport star during his career at LSU, Cannon also won an SEC title in the 100-meter dash as a member of the track and field team in 1958.

Eddie Kennison

A former first-round draft pick of the St. Louis Rams in the 1996 NFL Draft, Kennison was a six-time All-American and four-time SEC Champion on the track as a member of LSU's prolific 4x100 and 4x400-meter relay teams. In fact, he anchored the 4x100 squad to a national title at NCAA Outdoor Championships in 1994.

Jack Torrance

A former world record holder in the shot put, Torrance was an All-SEC offensive lineman with the Tigers from 1931-33. He earned three All-America honors in the shot put at LSU before representing his country at the infamous 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, Germany.

Hydrotherapy Treatment

An integral part of rehabbing and developing LSU student-athletes is the operations center's hot/cold jacuzzis and an underwater treadmill in a fully equipped Hydrotherapy room. The Broussard training center (above) boasts the largest hydrotherapy pool in both collegiate and professional sports.

Broussard Athletic TRAINING CENTER

The two-story, 22,000-square-foot facility contains 20 treatment tables with the newest forms of modalities available, Fourteen taping stations, a 1,600-square-foot rehabilitation area which contains the latest rehabilitation equipment including the Cybex Norm, Woodway treadmills and Body Master select rise equipment. LSU's multi-million dollar athletic training facility is named in honor of Dr. Martin J. Broussard (left), the legendary trainer whose career spanned more than 40 years at LSU.

Complete Care

"The training staff at LSU does an outstanding job of getting the athletes ready to compete at the highest level of collegiate track and field. I was able to compete at the NCAA Championships each year I was here, and I owe it all to the work of our training staff in keeping me in top shape throughout my career. The relationship I shared our trainers was an important part of my success at LSU."

LSU's Memorial Tower (main photo) was one of the first structures completed on the present campus and sits east of the quadrangle (inset). It represents the University as a memorial to those who gave their lives during World War I. Although it currently houses the LSU Anglo-American Art Museum, plans are in process to return Memorial Tower to a military museum as originally intended.

U.S. News & World Report

In a summer 2008 edition of U.S. News & World Report's America's Best Colleges, LSU is ranked in the first tier for "Best National Universities" for the first time.

Louisiana State University and Agricultural & Mechanical College has, throughout its 144-year history, served the people of Louisiana, the region, the nation and the world. LSU is creating a revolution, one of pervasive change and advancement. For the past five years, the focus of the LSU community has been an increased commitment to excellence. Our progress has been dramatic and shows no sign of stopping.

Having witnessed many of yesterday's possibilities become today's tangible realities, the LSU community set forth to capitalize on its success. The goal was to improve our standing as a nationally competitive flagship university. Following intense discussions among the LSU Board of Supervisors, campus administrators, faculty and student leaders, the objectives required to reach this status crystallized, providing the impetus for LSU's National Flagship Agenda.

Recently, Chancellor Dr. Michael V. Martin announced that in the summer 2008 edition of U.S. News & World Report's America's Best Colleges, LSU is ranked in the first tier for "Best National Universities" for the first time.

"This accomplishment means that the nation now recognizes what we have always known - that LSU is one of America's best universities," Martin said. "This ranking is proof that LSU's Flagship Agenda is working. That plan has done what it was designed to do -- improve LSU's stature on a national level."

Why LSU?

Walter Davis

2005 World Champion
6-Time NCAA Champion
9-Time NCAA All-American

"When anyone thinks of collegiate track and field, they think of LSU. The tradition here in this sport is unbelievable, and that's one of the main reasons I chose to come to LSU. I knew that I would have the opportunity to win a national championship during my career. I was fortunate enough to do that my senior year. Our team was really close and it was even like that with athletes of different sports. We were like one big family on campus. It's a great honor for me to say that I'm from LSU."

"It was really quite an honor to be able to play for LSU. Being from Lockport, everybody down there is a big LSU fan. Once I graduated from high school and had to make the decision where I was going to play, LSU was the obvious choice because I had grown up an LSU fan and it was a place where my family could watch me play. LSU really helped me grow both as a player and a person. I have nothing but fond memories of the place."

Tommy Hodson
Quarterback (1986-89)
All-SEC

"I had a lot of choices coming out of high school, but when I visited LSU it was different. It felt like a family with the coaches and the players. LSU was the best place for me to go. It had everything I wanted, both football and academically. The atmosphere and the coaches made me feel very comfortable around them as well as the academic people and everybody involved with the program. I was from down the road in Louisiana and could have gone anywhere to school, but I chose to stay close to home."

Jarvis Green
Defensive End (1998-01)
New England Patriots

"As far back as I can remember, I have literally bled purple and gold. It never crossed my mind that there was anywhere else to go other than LSU. The experiences and relationships that I developed at LSU have been an integral part of my life. No other colleges existed in my mind. I am fortunate to have attended a place that I considered a dream and look forward to my association with the University until the day I die."

Community OUTREACH

The Shaquille O'Neal CHAMPS/Life Skills Program

The Community Service aspect does not only serve to enhance a student-athletes' college experience, but also serves to expand character. Athletes not only gain a strong sense of self-worth, but also experience personal satisfaction and growth from volunteering and community service activities. More importantly are the benefits that the community receives. It enables the community to gain an enormous advantage in feeling that they have a "partnership" with LSU student-athletes.

LSU student-athletes participate in a variety of community service projects including reading in schools, nursing home visits, hospital pediatric ward visits, speaking engagements and more in East Baton Rouge Parish.

What is CHAMPS?

The Shaquille O'Neal CHAMPS/Life Skills program was developed by the NCAA to help prepare student-athletes for the challenges of life beyond the playing field. Through workshops, service projects and social events, CHAMPS, an acronym for Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success, brings LSU student-athletes information that will prepare them for the biggest game of all - the game of life!

How Can CHAMPS Help?

By focusing on "real life" skills and personal development, the CHAMPS Program not only assists the student-athletes with meeting daily challenges, but also enhances student-athlete's growth in their college years and beyond.

CHAMPS at LSU

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program at LSU is operated out of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes, and the focus of the program is on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth:

- Academic Excellence
- Athletic Excellence
- Career Development
- Personal Development
- Community Service

LSU ATHLETICS Championship TRADITION

2007-2008 ATHLETICS YEAR IN REVIEW

The Nation's Elite Teams

Football

The Tigers celebrated the 10th SEC Championship in school history and capped an amazing season with the program's third national title and second since 2003. LSU posted a 12-2 overall record and a 6-2 mark in SEC play. The Tigers tallied their fourth BCS bowl victory as LSU defeated Ohio State, 38-24, in the 2008 BCS National Championship Game.

Women's Basketball

The Lady Tigers reached their fifth-straight NCAA Final Four with a 31-5 overall record after wins over Jackson State, Marist, Oklahoma State and North Carolina in the NCAA Tournament. LSU claimed the SEC regular-season title with an unblemished 14-0 mark, representing the second time in the last four seasons the Lady Tigers ran through the conference schedule unbeaten.

Track and Field

The LSU women's track and field team claimed the 14th NCAA Outdoor championship in school history, and the Lady Tigers were NCAA runners-up during the indoor season. The LSU men's track and field team placed second at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. The Lady Tigers swept both the SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles, while the men's team captured league runner-up honors during both seasons.

Baseball

The baseball team completed one of the most remarkable turnarounds in SEC history as the Tigers reached the College World Series for the 14th time. The Tigers, who once held a 6-11-1 record in SEC play, won the SEC Western Division, the SEC Tournament, the NCAA Baton Rouge Regional and the NCAA Baton Rouge Super Regional. The turnaround was sparked by an SEC-record 23 consecutive wins down the stretch.

Gymnastics

The gymnastics team advanced to the NCAA Super Six for the first time in program history after the Tigers won the NCAA Central Regional. LSU finished fifth at the NCAA Championships. The fifth-place ranking marked the highest finish for a Tiger gymnastics team since 1988, which was prior to the establishment of the NCAA Super Six. LSU now has 24 consecutive postseason appearances.

How The West Was Won

LSU became the first school to claim the SEC Western Division title in all three fall sports -- football, volleyball and soccer -- and the Tigers added another divisional championship in the spring with baseball. The volleyball team won its third-straight Western Division title with a 25-8 overall record, and the soccer team finished with a 12-5-7 overall mark to win the program's first division crown.

Elite Athletes

Kelly Baptiste

WOMEN'S TRACK & FIELD

Kelly Baptiste led the Lady Tigers to their 25th NCAA championship by scoring a team-high 19 points at the outdoor nationals. She became the fifth Lady Tiger to be crowned NCAA champion in the 100-meter dash, while she also added All-America honors in the 200 meters, 4x100 relay and 4x400 relay.

Blake Dean

BASEBALL

Blake Dean will go down in LSU lore as one of the greatest hitters in postseason history, batting .404 in the Tigers' postseason run to the College World Series. The sophomore was a first-team All-American by Baseball America, and he provided game-winning hits in four postseason contests, including a memorable walk-off, three-run double to lead LSU past Rice in the CWS.

Kevin Dessauer

MEN'S TENNIS

Kevin Dessauer led the Tigers to their 14th-straight NCAA Tournament appearance as the 2008 team captain. On the courts, Dessauer finished second on the team with 21 singles victories. Off the courts, he ended his undergraduate career with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average and was the recipient of the Southeast Regional ITA/Arthur Ashe Award for Leadership and Sportsmanship.

Glenn Dorsey

FOOTBALL

Glenn Dorsey became the most decorated defensive player in school history and led the Tigers to their third national championship. Dorsey, the fifth pick of the 2008 NFL Draft by the Kansas City Chiefs, was a consensus first-team All-American. The senior was the recipient of the Outland, Nagurski, Lombardi and Lott Awards as college football's top defensive player.

Megan Falcon

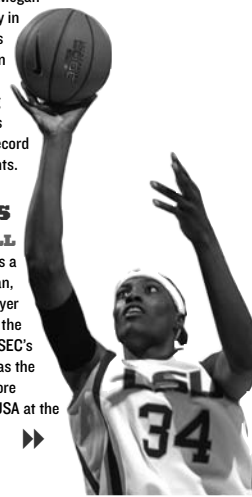

WOMEN'S TENNIS

A two-time singles All-American, Megan Falcon continued her brilliant play in 2008, earning All-America honors and first-team All-SEC recognition in her junior campaign. Falcon received a Top 20 singles ranking for the second-straight season as she finished with a 27-7 overall record with 12 wins over ranked opponents.

Sylvia Fowles

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Sylvia Fowles closed her career as a unanimous first-team All-American, the WBCA National Defensive Player of the Year and the SEC Player of the Year. The 6-6 senior became the SEC's all-time leading rebounder and was the No. 2 pick in the WNBA Draft before winning a gold medal with Team USA at the 2008 Olympics.

The Most Successful LSU Athletics Season In School History

LSU capped the most successful athletics season -- from top to bottom -- in school history by recording an eighth-place finish in the U.S. Sports Academy Director's Cup. The eighth-place finish is the highest for LSU since the inception of the director's cup in 1993-94. The Tigers accumulated an all-time high 1,085 points in 17 of a possible 20 sports, a first in school history. In all, the Tigers sent 19 of their 20 teams to NCAA post-season play in 2007-08. Eight teams finished in the top five nationally of their respective sports.

GYMNASTICS

Susan Jackson became the fourth LSU gymnast to win an NCAA individual title in school history as she was the 2008 NCAA national champion on the vault with a score of 9.8563 at the individual event finals at the NCAA Championships. The sophomore also earned All-America honors on the beam, floor, vault and all-around.

Andrew Loupe

MEN'S GOLF

Andrew Loupe was one of three LSU golfers to earn SEC All-Freshman honors in 2007-08. Loupe led the squad with a scoring average of 74.06 in 11 appearances, and his two Top 10 finishes tied for a team-best mark.

Christoph Lubenau

MEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING

Christoph Lubenau shattered the school record in the 100-yard butterfly at the NCAA Championships (46.24) while earning NCAA All-America honors with a ninth-place finish. Lubenau added another All-America finish as part of the Tigers' school-record-setting 200 freestyle relay.

Michelle Makasini

SOCCER

Michelle Makasini was chosen as a Top Drawer Soccer Honorable Mention All-American and became the second LSU soccer player in school history to earn first-team All-SEC honors as she helped lead the Lady Tigers to their first NCAA Tournament berth and an SEC Western Division title.

Elena Martinez

VOLLEYBALL

The 2007 SEC Defensive Player of the Year, the senior libero also earned honorable mention AVCA All-America honors and was a second-team All-SEC selection. Martinez led the conference in digs and digs per game, breaking the 21-year-old SEC record for digs in a season as LSU won its third-straight SEC West title and earned a third-straight NCAA Tournament berth.

Rachel Mitchell

SOFTBALL

A second-team NFCA All-South Region selection, the junior outfielder also earned first-team All-SEC honors. Mitchell ranked in the top 10 in the SEC in 10 offensive categories and was in the top 100 in the NCAA in five.

Anthony Randolph

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Anthony Randolph, after a stellar freshman season, became the 13th LSU player drafted in the first round of the NBA Draft when he was chosen with the 14th pick by the Golden State Warriors, the final pick of the NBA lottery teams.

Alexis Rather

WOMEN'S GOLF

Alexis Rather chipped in from off the green on the first playoff hole to give the Lady Tigers the eighth and final spot in the NCAA Division I Women's Golf Championships. LSU would go on to finish 15th, and after the season the senior would be named an assistant coach of the Ole Miss Rebels.

Richard Thompson ▲

MEN'S TRACK & FIELD

Richard Thompson proved to be the nation's most dominant sprinter in 2008 as he was named the NCAA Men's Outdoor Track Athlete of the Year. He became the first LSU athlete in program history to sweep NCAA titles in the 60-meter dash and 100-meter dash in the same season, but he did not stop there as he went on to win silver medals in the 100 meters and 4x100-meter relay for his native Trinidad & Tobago at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing.

Rachel Ware

WOMEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING

Rachel Ware, the 2007-08 SEC Diver of the Year, recorded her third career NCAA All-America accolade when she finished 12th in the 1-meter springboard at the NCAA Championships.

33

Shaquille O'Neal

O'Neal was the first pick in the 1992 NBA Draft. He was named MVP of the league in 2000 and was a three-time NBA Finals MVP after leading the Los Angeles Lakers to three World Championships. At LSU, O'Neal averaged 21.6 points and 13.6 rebounds for his career, and in 1991, he was named the World's Amateur Athlete of the Year as well as SEC Athlete of the Year and National Player of the Year. In 1997, he was named as one of the top 50 players in NBA history.

15

LSU Director of Athletics

Joe Alleva officially became the Director of Athletics at LSU on July 1, 2008, after spending the last 10 years in the same position at prestigious Duke University. Under Alleva's direction, the Duke athletic department experienced unprecedented growth and success.

"Joe Alleva brings a wealth of experience and accomplishment to LSU," said President John Lombardi. "I'm confident we've found a new leader for LSU athletics who exemplifies the vision and integrity needed to lead our sports programs to new heights, a champion of student-athletes who believes in the highest standards of competition both on the field and in the classroom."

At LSU, Alleva is responsible for the administration and direction of the Tiger athletic program, which has a current annual budget of approximately $70 million, includes 20 teams and more than 400 student-athletes.

At Duke, Alleva oversaw more than 190 staff members, a $50 million budget, 26 sports and more than 600 student-athletes. Duke athletics flourished under Alleva's direction.

Alleva, 55, has built his professional career on service to student-athletes and the commitment to individual development in athletics, academics and community service. Alleva is well-respected for sustaining high standards of excellence and integrity in the athletics program, the quality of coaches he has hired and the high level of success that was achieved across athletic programs at Duke under his leadership.

Alleva's tenure as AD at Duke propelled the university into the ranks of America's top all-around collegiate programs. The Blue Devils consistently finished high in the annual Directors' Cup standings, ranking as high as fifth in 2005. Prior to 1998-99, Alleva's first full year as director of athletics, Duke had never placed higher than 21st in the Directors' Cup standings. Since then, Duke has enjoyed seven Top 20 finishes, including five in succession (2004-08).

In the 2006 National Collegiate Scouting Association Power Rankings that combine a school's Directors' Cup finish, its athletic graduation rates and its academic ranking in U.S. News and World Report, Duke was the top-ranked Division I school in the nation. Duke also finished first in this listing in 2005 and second in 2004.

Alleva's outstanding list of accomplishments includes Duke winning more ACC and NCAA championships than in any other 10-year period in school history. Six Duke teams won national championships under Alleva's leadership and 46 Blue Devil teams recorded ACC championships, the second-highest total among ACC schools since 1997-98.

Under Alleva's commitment to education, Duke's graduation rates continued to rank among the best in the nation. Duke regularly led the ACC in Academic Honor Roll honorees as Alleva increased the financial commitment to academic support by ten-fold during his tenure as AD.

While continuing to excel in competition and in the classroom, Alleva instituted a number of innovative community service programs for Duke student-athletes to benefit the community. Duke student-athletes regularly volunteered nearly 3,000 hours in community outreach.

Fundraising under Alleva's guidance reached extensive heights during his career at Duke. Alleva and his fundraising team generated more than $173 million in gifts and funded more than $85 million in new facilities or renovations. Annual giving to the Iron Dukes increased 50 percent since the year 2000.

New facilities built under Alleva's supervision include the Michael W. Krzyzewski Center Dedicated to Athletic and Academic Excellence, Yoh Football Center, Sheffield Tennis Center, Schwartz-Butters Athletic Center, Ambler Tennis Stadium, Karcher-Ingram Golf Center, Rod Myers Teaching Center, the Skandalaris Fieldhouse at Koskinen Stadium and the fieldhouse at Williams Field. Facility upgrades were made to Cameron Indoor Stadium, Wallace Wade Stadium, Jack Coombs Stadium, Koskinen Stadium, Williams Field, Murray Athletic Building and Brooks Field at the football practice facility.

Alleva is active on the national collegiate athletics scene, having served on the Football Bowl Certification Committee. He sat on several Atlantic Coast Conference committees and served on the NCAA Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet.

Alleva majored in Finance at Lehigh University and received his bachelor's degree in 1975. While at Lehigh, Alleva was the quarterback of the football team and team captain in 1974. Alleva also played on the Lehigh baseball team. He served as a graduate assistant football coach and earned an MBA in 1976.

Alleva began his career at Duke working for the vice president of business and finance in 1976 and joined the Duke athletic department in 1980 as director of finance. He became the assistant director of athletics in 1986 and was soon promoted in 1987 to associate director before his tenure as Athletics Director Joe Alleva introduces new LSU men's basketball coach Trent Johnson during a press conference on April 10, 2008.

Director of Athletics in 1998.

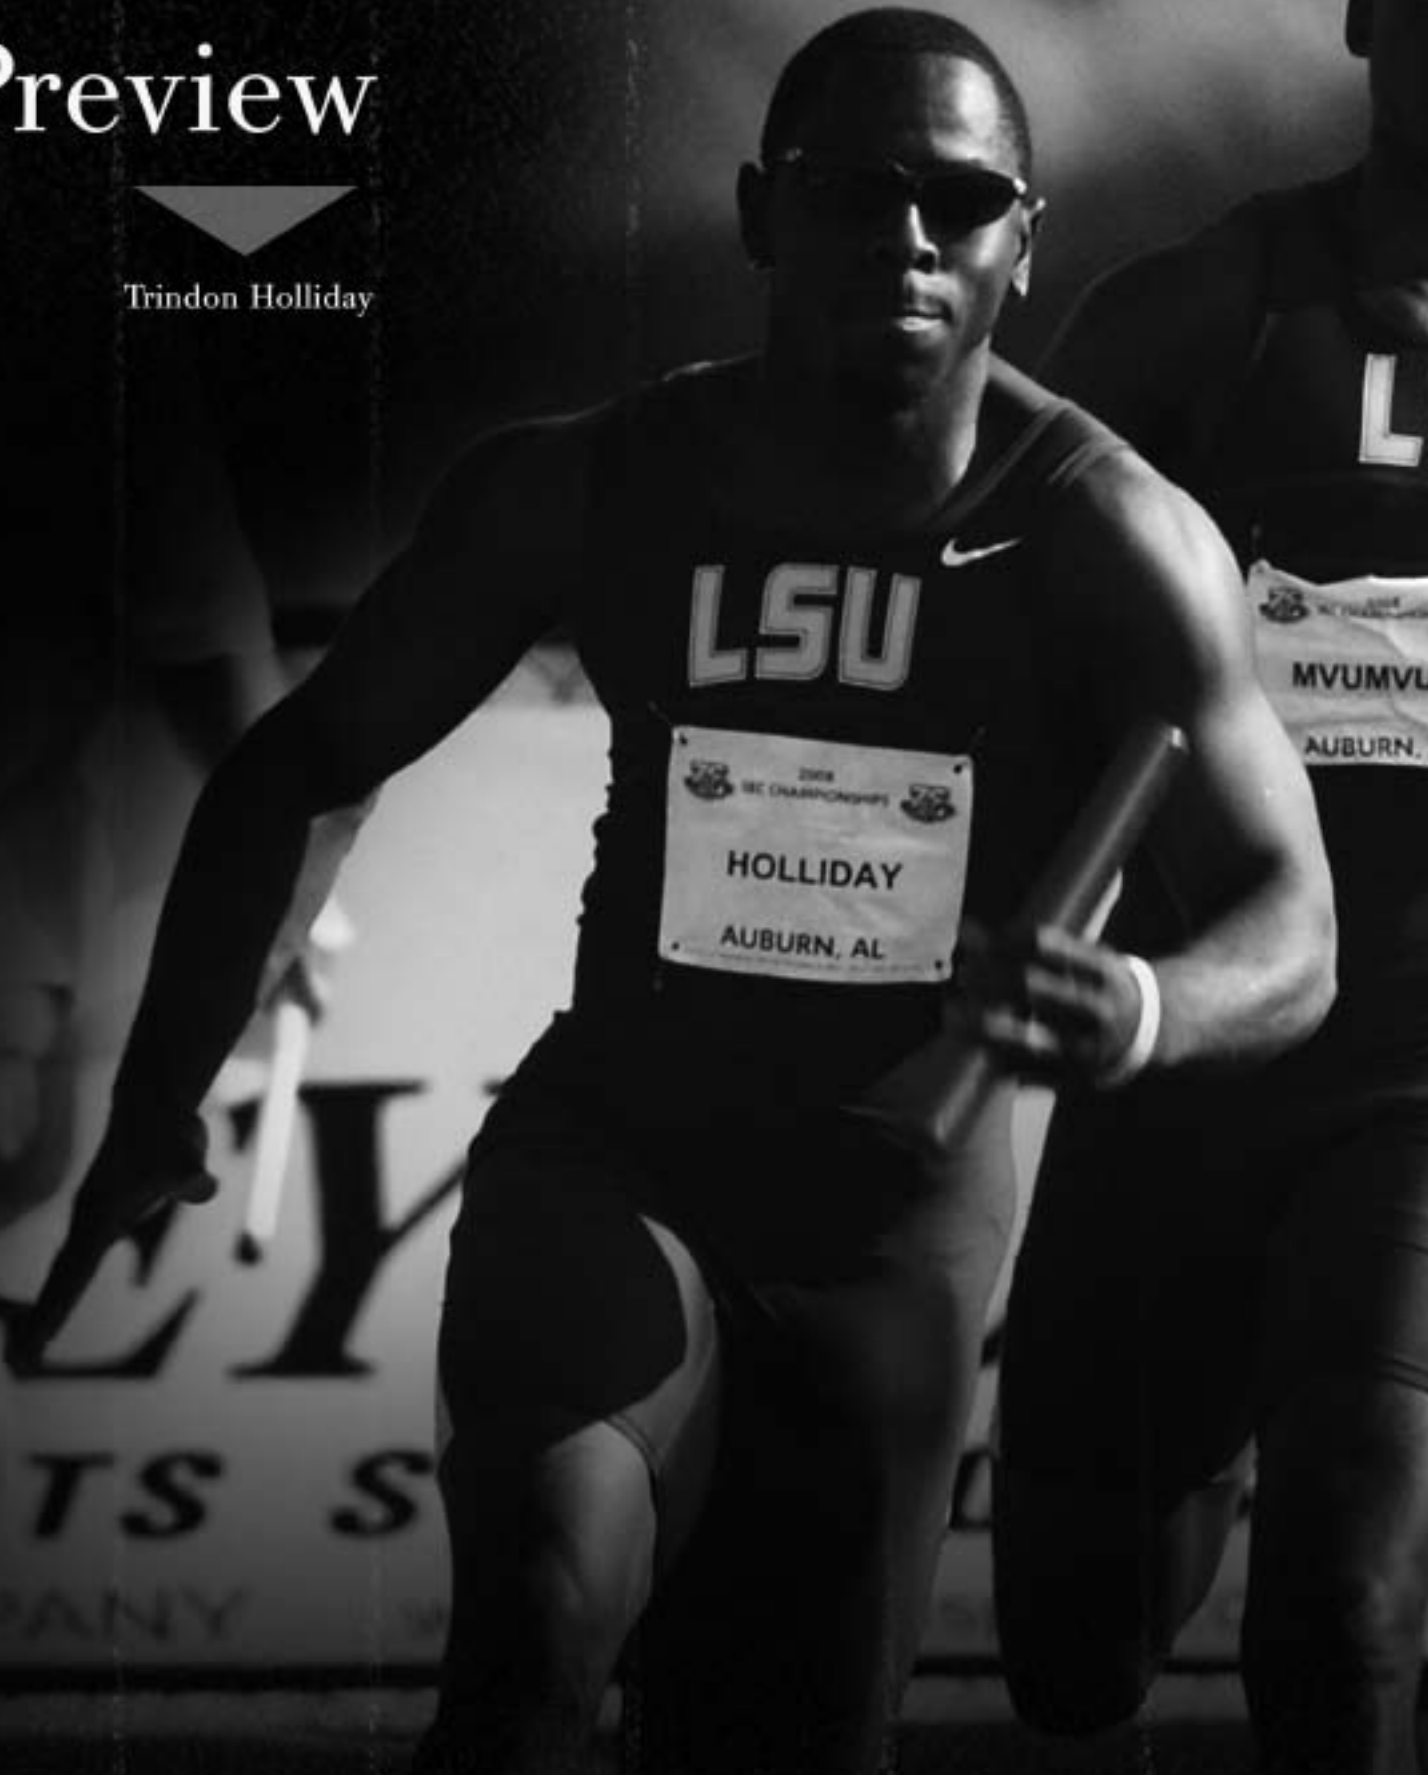

He played a key role in Durham's community sports scene. He started Little League Baseball in Durham more than 20 years ago, and also began the American Legion baseball program.

Alleva is a member of the North Carolina American Legion Hall of Fame, Suffern High School Hall of Fame and the Rockland County Hall of Fame.

Alleva and his wife, Annie, have two sons, J.D. and Jeff, along with a daughter, Jenny. J.D. played baseball at Duke and was picked in the 24th round of the 2001 Major League Baseball Amateur Draft by the Kansas City Royals and is now a professional scout for the Houston Astros. Jeff finished his baseball career at Duke in 2003 and signed a free agent contract with the Royals following his senior season. He recently graduated with his MBA from the prestigious Fuqua School of Business at Duke. Jenny, a four-year letterwinner on Duke's women's soccer team, attends law school at the University of North Carolina.

Tigers look to turn silver into gold at NCAA Championships

The Tigers have not been crowned national champions at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships since a winning performance on their home turf at the Bernie Moore Track Stadium during the 2002 season. But LSU is poised to add to its trophy collection this spring after finishing runner-up at the outdoor nationals in each of the last three seasons. The Tigers also look to challenge for their first NCAA Indoor crown since 2004 as they return a talented squad littered with potential All-Americans across all events. This year's squad features a host of returning stars and a wealth of young talent that looks to once again lead LSU to the pinnacle of collegiate track and field in 2009.

Sprints/Relays

After losing the services of the reigning NCAA 100-meter champion and Olympic silver medalist Richard Thompson, the average observer might be under the impression that LSU's sprint group will experience a dramatic drop in its production this spring. After all, Thompson led the Tigers with 20.5 individual points at the NCAA Outdoor Championships a year ago.

But back to challenge for his first career NCAA titles in both the 60-meter and 100-meter dashes is senior standout Trindon Holliday, who finished second and third in the events in NCAA competition last season, respectively. The former school-record holder at 100 meters with a personal record of 10.02 seconds, Holliday also finished as the national runner-up in the event at the NCAA Outdoor meet in 2007. The Zachary native is back to anchor the Tigers' defending NCAA champion 4x100-meter relay team that clocked the sixth-fastest time in collegiate history in the NCAA final a year ago with a winning time of 38.42.

Holliday will be joined in the short sprints by sophomore standout and Zimbabwe import Gabriel Mvumvure. A budding star at 100 and 200 meters, Mvumvure proved to be one of the top young sprinters in the country with his performance in 2008. After joining the Tigers near the end of the indoor season, Mvumvure qualified for the national semifinal in the 200 meters in his first career appearance at the NCAA Championships before finishing the season with personal bests of 10.37 in the 100 meters and 20.83 in the 200 meters. He also ran the all important third leg on the Tigers' sprint relay team throughout the outdoor season.

LSU is sure to see little drop off in the performance of its 4x100-meter relay as it returns three of four members who lined up in the NCAA final a year ago. Junior Armanti Hayes returns to run the leadoff leg as he did all of last season, while the Tigers will benefit from having quality depth in the event with the addition of junior college All-Americans Jerel Hill and Ryan Penn and incoming freshman Jeremy Liddell.

Hill comes to LSU from Hinds Community College with a personal best of 10.38 in the 100 meters, while Penn is a star in the making after setting personal bests of 10.37 in the 100 and 20.78 in the 200 during his two-year career at Southwestern Christian College. Liddell has a bright future with the Tigers following a brilliant high school career at Moss Point High School in Moss Point, Miss.

The 2009 season is also sure to witness the resurgence of LSU's group of quartermilers as the Tigers welcome two of the world's premier recruits at 400 meters in Ade Alleyne-Forte of San Fernando, Trinidad, and Robert Simmons of Missouri City, Texas. Alleyne-Forte boasts a PR of 46.27, which was the 12th-fastest time in the world by an athlete under the age of 20 during the 2007 season. Simmons comes to LSU as one of the nation's top high school 400-meter runners with a personal best of 46.40.

The freshman duo will team with Hayes to give LSU three potential sub 46-second splits on a 4x400-meter relay team that missed qualifying for the NCAA final during both the indoor and outdoor seasons a year ago. Hayes set a new personal best of 46.10 in the 400 meters in 2008 and is poised to take his performance to another level with an additional year of training in LSU's program.

Hurdles

While the Tigers feature one of the top sprint groups in the nation once again this season, they must replace the services of NCAA Championships participant Ryan Fontenot if they hope to be competitive on a national level in the hurdles once again in 2009. An All-American contender a year ago, Fontenot made his debut at the NCAA Championships during his senior season in 2008 by qualifying for the final of the 60-meter hurdles at the NCAA Indoor Championships. He followed by reaching the national semifinal of the 110-meter hurdles during the outdoor season.

Not only that, but Fontenot wrapped up his LSU career as the school-record holder with a top time of 7.69 in the 60-meter hurdles, while his career best of 13.64 in the 110 hurdles ranks at No. 4 in the history of the LSU track and field program.

While it is unclear who may step up to lead LSU in the sprint hurdles, the Tigers feature a pair of potential stars in the intermediate hurdles in senior Patrick Lee and freshman Barrett Nugent. Lee, who came to LSU a year ago as the reigning junior college national champion in the 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter hurdles at South Plains College, finished the 2008 season with a personal-best time of 50.94 in the 400 hurdles. Nugent signed with the Tigers last spring as one of the nation's top prospects in the intermediate hurdles for the Class of 2008. While Nugent did not compete in the 400 hurdles at the high school level, his personal best time of 37.40 seconds in the 300-meter hurdles ranked among the nation's best.

Middle Distance/Distance

LSU's group of middle distance runners is another that must replace the services of a pair of All-Americans if it hopes to find success in 2009, but it looks to be strong yet again with junior Jamaal James leading the way. After qualifying for the 800 meters at the NCAA Championships during both the indoor and outdoor seasons a year ago, James looks to regain the form that earned him All-America honors as a freshman with a fifth-place finish at the NCAA Indoor meet in 2007.

James also swept SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles in his first season with the program. He followed that success by earning all-conference honors with a second-place finish in the 800 meters at both the SEC Indoor and Outdoor Championships in 2008. His personal best of 1 minute, 47.00 seconds in the event ranks among the NCAA's top returning runners at 800 meters for the 2009 season.

Jamaal James

Jeremy Hicks

Preston Chatham

The Tigers are sure to miss the production it received from All-Americans Elkana Kosgei and Reuben Twijukye last season. Kosgei was the NCAA Indoor runner-up in the 800 meters and the fourth-place finisher in the event at the NCAA Outdoor meet, scoring a total of 13 points for the Tigers in national competition in 2008. Twijukye was also an indoor All-American a year ago as he placed fifth in the half mile at the national meet.

The 2008 season proved to be one of unprecedented success for LSU's group of middle distance runners on the men's side, and it can find that same success yet again if James continues his development in his third season of training in the program.

Jumps

In what has been one of the strongest event areas for the Tigers throughout their storied history, this season's jumps corps will feature a talented squad led by a pair of returning All-Americans and a budding star that is sure to challenge for his first career All-America honor. Their contribution will also play a major role in determining whether or not LSU can compete for national championships in 2009.

Leading the way for the Tigers is senior Jeremy Hicks and junior Will Coppage as the duo should give the squad two of the nation's top performers in the long jump this season. Coppage earned his first career All-America honor with a fifth-place finish at the NCAA Indoor Championships as a freshman in 2007, while Hicks also earned his first career All-America honor with a seventh-place finish in the event at the NCAA Outdoor Championships that year. Both are looking to regain their All-America form after failing to score for the Tigers at the NCAA meet a year ago.

Sophomore Zedric Thomas showed just why he was considered one of the top triple jump recruits in the country with his performance toward the end of the 2008 season. As a freshman, he qualified for the NCAA Outdoor Championships for the first time in his career with a fifth-place finish at the NCAA Mideast Regional Championships with a personal-best jump of 52 feet, 3 1/4 inches. Thomas hopes to take his performance to the next level and compete for his first ever All-America honor with the Tigers.

In addition, junior Josh Dominguez looks to challenge for All-America honors following his outstanding performance a year ago. Dominguez came out of nowhere to finish third in the pole vault at the regional meet with a new personal best of 17-5 in the event. He then competed in the event at the NCAA Outdoor Championships for the first time in his young career. Dominguez will team with sophomore Kyle Rose to give the Tigers an added point-scoring threat at the conference level this spring.

Throws

The 2009 season could prove to be a banner year for the LSU's throws group under second-year assistant coach Derek Yush as it boasts a talented roster with All-America candidates and national title contenders during both the indoor and outdoor seasons. The Tigers scored only five points in the throws in NCAA competition a year ago, but that number is sure to skyrocket in 2009 as LSU makes a run at the national championship.

Junior Preston Chatham is LSU's top returning performer after earning a fourth-place finish in the javelin at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. The Covington native set a new personal-best mark of 234-7 at the national meet to earn his first career All-America honor at LSU. Chatham was the only point scorer in the field events for the Tigers at the NCAA meet.

Senior Rabun Fox also returns to the squad this season after making his first career trip to the NCAA Championships in the hammer throw as a junior. Fox, who missed the entire 2007 season while nursing a torn meniscus in his knee, came back with a vengeance as he set a new PR by 17 feet. He proved to be one of the top hammer throwers in the NCAA in 2008 after finishing with a seasonal-best mark of 215-11.

The Tigers potentially have the top hammer throw tandem in the country this spring as they welcome the addition of All-American transfer and NCAA title contender Walter Henning. As a freshman at North Carolina in 2008, Henning earned indoor All-America honors by taking third in the weight throw at the NCAA Indoor Championships before winning the ACC title in the hammer throw during the outdoor season. He comes to LSU with collegiate bests of 72-3 in the weight throw and 225-5 in the hammer to rank among the top returning athletes in the NCAA.

Not only that, but Yush coached Henning to a World Junior title in the 6-kg. hammer at the IAAF World Junior Championships last summer. Henning shattered his own American junior record in the event with a winning throw of 252-4 at the meet in Bydgoszcz, Poland.

The Tigers also hope to be strong in the shot put with the return of All-SEC performer and football standout Ricky Jean-Francois. The Miami native earned all-conference honors in the shot put with a second-place finish at the SEC Indoor meet in 2006, while he nearly equaled that feat with a third-place finish at the indoor meet a year ago. Jean-Francois then made his debut at the NCAA Championships during the outdoor season following a fourth-place performance at the NCAA Mideast Regional Championships.

LSU's throws group is sure to be among the deepest groups on the squad this spring, and Yush is looking to take his troops to the next level after coaching eight athletes to personal bests in his first season with the program in 2008.

All-American Samantha Henry

Reloaded

Lady Tigers retool for another trip to NCAA Championships

The Lady Tigers will open the 2009 season as the defending NCAA Outdoor champions after earning a thrilling 67-63 victory over the Arizona State Sun Devils at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa, a year ago. It was the 25th time in program history that the LSU women have been crowned national champions as the Tigers and Lady Tigers have now combined to win a total of 31 NCAA Indoor and Outdoor titles all-time. The Lady Tigers lose 47 points from the team that made the trip to Des Moines, but return a squad that is sure to challenge the nation's elite for NCAA glory once again this spring.

Sprints/Relays

LSU has built the success of its women's program on developing the best sprinters at the collegiate level year in and year out, and that was never more evident than their performance last season in bringing yet another national championship home to Baton Rouge.

Lady Tiger great Kelly Baptiste was the star of the show after racking up a team-high 19 points at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. Baptiste swept NCAA titles in both the 60 and 100 meters last season, while adding a fifth-place finish in the 200 meters at the NCAA Outdoor meet. She wrapped up her career as one of the most decorated Lady Tigers in program history with two NCAA titles and 14 total All-America honors in four seasons.

But the Lady Tigers must fill the void left by Baptiste, as well as All-American sprinters Juanita Broaddus, Deonna Lawrence and Brooklynn Morris, if they hope to defend their national championship this spring.

One Lady Tiger standout who looks to make the jump from All-American to NCAA title contender is junior Samantha Henry. The Jamaican import has flourished in the LSU program since arriving in Baton Rouge as a freshman, and she enters the 2009 season with impressive personal bests of 11.16 seconds in the 100 meters and 22.84 in the 200 meters. Henry scored eight big points for the Lady Tigers at the NCAA Outdoor meet that includes a seventh-place finish in the 100 and a fifth-place finish in the 200. She also ran the second leg on LSU's 4x100 relay that finished runner-up at the national meet a year ago.

Henry will team with one of the top young sprinters in the country in sophomore standout Kenyanna Wilson to ensure that the Lady Tigers are competitive on a national level once again in 2009. Wilson, a native of Peoria, Ariz., was an NCAA Championships qualifier in the 100-meter dash as a freshman last season, while she also ran the leadoff leg on the Lady Tigers' 4x100 relay that finished second in the national final.

With the loss of Baptiste, Broaddus and Morris from the sprint relay pool, LSU will look to the likes of senior Monique Cabral and junior Kristina Davis to team with Henry and Wilson to ensure that the Lady Tigers continue their dominance in the event.

The team must also replace the production of Baptiste, Lawrence and Morris in the 4x400 relay as the trio ran on the squad that won an NCAA Indoor title and finished runner-up at the NCAA Outdoor meet last season. LSU will look to incoming freshman Taylor Evans of Phoenix, Ariz., who boasts a personal best of 54.65 in the 400 meters, as well as middle distance standouts LaTavia Thomas, Kayann Thompson and Brittany Hall to fill the void.

Hurdles

Not only must the Lady Tigers replace NCAA champion sprinter Kelly Baptiste, but they must also replace a national champion hurdler after junior Nickiesha Wilson signed a professional contract with adidas following the Olympic Games.

Wilson became just the third Lady Tiger to win an NCAA title in the 400-meter hurdles with her victory over defending champion Nicole Leach of UCLA at the NCAA Outdoor meet before finishing as the national runner-up in the 100-meter hurdles on the final day. Her 18 points in the team total was second only to the 19 scored by Baptiste. In just two seasons with the Lady Tigers, Wilson racked up nine All-America honors and joined the professional ranks as the school-record holder in the 400 hurdles with a career best time of 53.97.

The Lady Tigers featured arguably the nation's top tandem of hurdlers on their way to the national championship last season as Wilson teamed with Jessica Ohanaja to give the squad a pair of national title contenders in NCAA competition. A seven-time All-American during her brilliant career at LSU, Ohanaja also leaves as one of the most prolific hurdlers to wear the purple and gold after placing fifth nationally in the 60 hurdles and sixth in the 100 hurdles a year ago.

Sophomore Tenaya Jones returns as the Lady Tigers' top performer in the sprint hurdles following a successful freshman season in which she set personal bests of 8.30 in the 60 hurdles and 13.62 in the 100 hurdles. She helped complete a 1-2-3 sweep for LSU in the 60 hurdles at the SEC Indoor Championships with her third-place finish. She went on to qualify for her first career NCAA Midwest Regional appearance during the outdoor season.

The Lady Tigers also welcome incoming freshman Cassandra Tate to the squad this spring. A native of

LaTavia Thomas

Katelyn Rodrigue

Kim Williams

Hammond, La., Tate was an eight-time state champion sprinter and hurdler in her four-year career at Loranger High School. She joins the LSU program with personal bests of 11.79 in the 100 meters, 24.21 in the 200 meters and 14.11 in the 100 hurdles.

Middle Distance/Distance

While the Lady Tigers must replace such stars as Kelly Baptiste, Nickiesha Wilson and Jessica Ohanaja in the sprints and hurdles, the squad will feature a deep group of middle distance runners that is sure to be one of the more talented squads in the nation this spring. Junior LaTavia Thomas will lead the way for a unit that has the chance to score big points in NCAA competition.

In just two seasons in the LSU program, Thomas has established herself as one of the top young 800-meter runners in the United States. Thomas burst onto the scene in 2008 with her win over defending champion Alysia Johnson of California at the NCAA Indoor Championships prior to finishing runner-up in the 800 meters at the NCAA Outdoor meet. Not only that, but she swept SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles for the second straight season while setting a new personal best of 2 minutes, 3.22 seconds during the outdoor season.

With her win at the NCAA Indoor Championships, Thomas became just the fourth Lady Tiger in program history to be crowned national champion in the half mile as she joins such LSU greats as Claudine Williams (1999), Marian Burnett (2002) and Neisha Bernard-Thomas (2004).

If that were not enough, Thomas followed the collegiate season by advancing to the 800-meter final in her first career appearance at the U.S. Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore. She is sure to be a catalyst if the Lady Tigers hope to contend for another national championship in 2009.

While Thomas is sure to challenge for NCAA Indoor and Outdoor titles once again this spring, she will be joined by a pair of All-America candidates in senior Kayann Thompson and sophomore Brittany Hall. After coming to LSU with a personal best of 2:02.64, Thompson was a participant in the 800 meters at the NCAA Outdoor Championships a year ago and will look to be an All-American contender with a full year of training in the program.

After signing with LSU as one of the top 800-meter recruits in the Class of 2007, Hall put her talent on display while setting a new personal best of 2:05.95. The trio gives the Lady Tigers three potential point scorers they will need in NCAA competition if they hope to challenge for the national championship during both the indoor and outdoor seasons this spring.

Jumps

The Lady Tigers are also looking for production from its jumpers if it hopes to compete on a national level once again in 2009, and senior All-American Andrea Linton will return for her final season of indoor eligibility to lead the squad. Linton, who earned All-America honors in the triple jump at the NCAA Outdoor Championships during her sophomore and junior seasons, won her first career All-America honor in the long jump a year ago by finishing seventh in the event at the NCAA Indoor Championships. She enters the season with overall personal bests of 20 feet, 10 1/2 inches in the long jump and 44-6 1/4 in the triple jump.

LSU also features a pair of sophomores with impressive credentials as Brittani Carter will look to contribute in the high jump, while Melissa Ogbourne will join Linton in both the long jump and triple jump. Carter signed with LSU as the nation's second-ranked high jump recruit for the Class of 2007 and enters this season with a personal best of 6-0 in the event. Ogbourne is another Lady Tiger with a bright future in the program after setting personal bests of 19-11 3/4 in the long jump and 41-10 3/4 in the triple jump during her freshman season a year ago.

Perhaps an event that has often been overlooked in previous years at LSU is the pole vault, but those days are a thing of the past as the Lady Tigers now have two vaulters on the team with All-America aspirations in junior standout Katelyn Rodrigue and incoming freshman Rachel Laurent. No Lady Tiger has ever scored in the event in NCAA competition in program history, but the duo hopes to change that with its performance this spring.

Rodrigue earned All-SEC honors with a second-place finish at the SEC Outdoor meet last season. She became the first Lady Tiger to compete at both the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor meets in the same season while finishing the year with a personal best and school record of 13-7 1/4.

She will be joined in the event by a legitimate NCAA title contender in Laurent, who was the top-ranked pole vault recruit in the country for the Class of 2008. A U.S. Junior champion and fourth-place finisher at the IAAF

World Junior Championships in 2008, Laurent is one of the most prolific pole vaulters in the history of high school track and field in the United States. She ranks No. 2 all-time among high school girls in the history of the sport with a personal-best clearance of 14-0.

Throws

Senior Anna Lyons and junior Kim Williams return to lead a resurgent LSU throws group after shattering personal bests in their respective events in 2008. After throwing the javelin at the NCAA Championships two years ago, Lyons just missed making her return to the national meet a season ago while setting a new personal best of 158-8. She has competed at the NCAA Midstate Regional Championships in each of the last three seasons.

Williams also set a new personal best in 2008 with a top mark of 194-2 in the hammer in a fourth-place finish at the SEC Championships. She will look to take the next step and challenge for all-conference honors and her first career trip to the NCAA Championships this spring.

The future of the Lady Tigers in the throws certainly looks bright with the addition of two incoming freshmen in Allison Horner of Marietta, Ga., and Brianna Kennedy of Wilmington, Del. Horner was the nation's No. 1 recruit in the hammer throw last season and will open the year with a personal best of 194-1, which ranks No. 2 all-time by a high school girl in the United States. Kennedy will give the Lady Tigers immediate depth in the throws as she competes in both the discus and javelin during her career at LSU.

Track & Field

Dennis Shaver

Head Coach • Fifth Season • 14th Season at LSU • Texas-Arlington, 1979

LSU track and field ushered in a new era on July 22, 2004, with the announcement of Dennis Shaver as the program's 18th head coach.

Shaver, who spent nine seasons as an assistant on the LSU staff, oversees the direction of both the men's and women's programs, while concentrating his work with the Tiger and Lady Tiger sprinters and hurdlers.

When Dennis Shaver ascended to the rank of head coach of the LSU track and field program in July 2004, he was given the reigns of a national power recognized worldwide for its dominance at the collegiate level while racking up a total of 30 NCAA team championships in its history.

Expectations were high, but Shaver had experienced LSU's success first-hand as he helped coach the Tigers and Lady Tigers to a combined 12 national championships while serving as an assistant coach for nine seasons from 1996-2004. It came as no surprise when he was asked to continue LSU's championship tradition when the position opened in the wake of the 2004 season.

Shaver knew the challenge that lay in front of him when he accepted the job. At his opening press conference, Shaver promised fans, coaches, officials and his student-athletes that "we are going to do everything we can to keep this kind of championship program going here at LSU."

He has certainly delivered on that promise as the program has showed no signs of slowing down under his guidance. The Tigers and Lady Tigers were on the cusp of adding to their championship collection in Shaver's first three seasons as head coach as they combined for a total of five second-place finishes at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor Championships, while the women added a sixth runner-up finish at the NCAA Indoor meet in 2008.

But with his best team making the trip to Des Moines, Iowa, for the 2008 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships, Shaver knew LSU was a championship contender on both sides.

The meet unfolded just the way he had anticipated with the women's race for the team title going down to the very last event of the weekend. The Lady Tigers were tied with defending champion Arizona State at 59 points with both teams advancing a foursome into the final of the 4x400 relay. The stage was set for a dramatic conclusion with the team crossing the finish line first taking the title.

The Lady Tigers carried the stick around the track in 3 minutes, 28.33 seconds to score eight points with a second-place finish in the race, while the Sun Devils were unable to keep pace with a fifth-place finish. The final score for the meet after 21 events read LSU 67,

Arizona State 63.

Not only did the Lady Tigers capture their first national championship under Shaver, but the team won the 31st NCAA title in the history of the LSU track and field program nearly 75 years to the day that the Tigers won their first national championship way back on June 17, 1933. It proved to be a fitting end to a season that also saw the Lady Tigers dominate the Southeastern Conference by sweeping SEC Indoor and Outdoor championships for the first time since the 1996 season.

For his team's performance, Shaver was named the NCAA Women's Outdoor Coach of the Year by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association, while also sweeping SEC Women's Indoor and Outdoor Coach of the Year honors in a vote of the league's head coaches.

Widely considered one of the premier sprints and hurdles coaches in all of track and field, LSU's athletes flourished under Shaver once again as the Tigers and Lady Tigers made their presence felt throughout the 2008 season. Shaver coached the likes of Lady Tiger greats Kelly Baptiste and Nickiesha Wilson to individual NCAA titles during their final season in the purple and gold, and he also coached Tiger sprint star Richard Thompson to one of the most prolific seasons in history at the collegiate level.

Baptiste was the catalyst in LSU's national championship run as she accounted for a team-high 19 points at the NCAA Championships while becoming the fifth Lady Tiger in program history to be crowned NCAA champion in the 100-meter dash. Wilson was equally as impressive at the NCAA Outdoor meet as she added 18 points with a national title in the 400-meter hurdles and a runner-up finish in the final of the 100-meter hurdles.

In four years with Shaver's coaching, Baptiste amassed a resume to rival the best sprinters to ever wear the LSU uniform. She is the only Lady Tiger to sweep NCAA titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters in the same season, while she also ranks seventh in LSU history with an impressive 14 career All-America honors. She is also the school-record holder with a top 60-meter time of 7.13 set under Shaver.

But no athlete dominated collegiate track and field in 2008 quite

“We are fortunate to have one of the finest coaches in the country leading our track and field program at LSU. LSU’s track teams have a record of great accomplishment under Dennis Shaver’s leadership the last four years. He has not only helped establish LSU as a leader in competition, but also in the community and classroom as well. It is a testament to the kind of student-athletes we want representing this University.”

– JOE ALLEVA, LSU DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

like Thompson. Arguably the greatest sprinter to ever wear the LSU uniform, Thompson also became the first Tiger to sweep NCAA titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters in the same season, while he also ran the second leg on LSU’s national champion 4x100-meter relay team. In addition, Thompson won All-America honors in the 200 meters with a runner-up finish at the NCAA Outdoor Championships en route to being named the NCAA Men’s Outdoor Track Athlete of the Year.

He became the first sprinter coached by Shaver to crack the 10-second barrier in the 100-meter dash with his victory at the SEC Outdoor Championships in Auburn, Ala. Thompson’s 9.93 in the conference final was the second-fastest time ever recorded at the collegiate level.

Thompson, who came to LSU from the country of Trinidad and Tobago with a personal best of 10.65 in the 100 meters, wrapped up his career in Baton Rouge as a four-time NCAA champion, a five-time SEC champion and an eight-time All-American under Shaver’s guidance.

While Shaver helped Thompson become one of the more dominant sprinters in collegiate history during his career at LSU, he coached his pupil to worldwide stardom at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing. In his Olympics debut, Thompson shocked the world by winning a silver medal in the finals of the 100-meter dash while setting a new collegiate record with a time of 9.89. He finished second only to Jamaican world-record holder and gold medalist Usain Bolt. After anchoring Trinidad’s 4x100-meter relay to a silver medal, Thompson’s unforgettable season was complete.

While Thompson grabbed the headlines, he was not the only athlete coached by Shaver to line up at the Olympic Games. Former Lady Tiger hurdler and World Indoor champion Lolo Jones made her Olympics debut with a seventh-place finish after winning the 100-meter hurdles at the U.S. Olympic Trials, while Baptiste (Trinidad and Tobago) and Sherry Fletcher (Grenada) ran the 100 meters and Wilson (Jamaica) and Isa Phillips (Jamaica) competed in the 400-meter hurdles.

LSU’s success in 2008 came on the heels of a 2007 season in which Shaver coached his teams to a combined three runner-up finishes at the NCAA Championships. The Lady Tigers were second both indoor and outdoor to go along with their first SEC Outdoor championship since 1996, while the Tigers earned their second straight runner-up finish at the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

The 2006 season also proved to be an incredible season for Shaver in just his second season at the helm as he guided the men’s team to a pair of national runner-up finishes at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor Championships, while the youthful women’s team earned a pair of seventh-place finishes at the NCAA Championships.

Under Shaver’s watchful eye, former LSU great Xavier Carter won four individual national titles at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in 2006, becoming the first collegiate athlete since Ohio State’s Jesse Owens in 1935 and 1936 to win four NCAA titles at a single national meet. Carter claimed championships in the 100 meters, 400 meters, 4x100-meter relay and 4x400-meter relay, and finished his brief two-year career with an incredible seven individual national championships and 10 All-America honors.

Sprint sensation Kelly Willie also capped a stellar career in 2006 by leading the Tigers to three relay national titles while earning a total of five All-America honors. With Shaver’s coaching, Willie finished his four-year career in Baton Rouge as the most decorated athlete in the history of LSU men’s track and field, tying Carter with a school record seven individual NCAA titles and an LSU best 19 career All-America honors.

LSU’s men’s and women’s relay teams proved to be an unbeatable force throughout the 2006 season, sweeping 4x400 national titles at the NCAA Championships during the indoor and outdoor seasons and the men claiming a national championship in the 4x100 at the outdoor meet. In all, 12 of Shaver’s athletes won individual national titles in eight different events in addition to a total of 23 All-America honors in 2006.

In his first season at the helm, Shaver led LSU to a pair of Top 10 finishes in NCAA competition and a total of 14 All-America honors. The season was capped by an exceptional effort at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in which the Tigers’ 4x400-meter relay team set a new collegiate record and dominated the field by winning the national title.

The foursome of Reggie Dardar, Willie, Bennie Brazell and Carter clocked a blistering 2:59.59 in shattering the 17-year-old record. The NCAA title catapulted the Tigers to a third-place finish in the final team standings, an effort that was assisted by national runner-up efforts by Carter and Brazell in the 200 meters and 400 hurdles, respectively.

While he enters his fifth season as head coach, Shaver has enjoyed 13 tremendously successful seasons at LSU after joining the program as an assistant coach in August 1995. During his time in Baton Rouge, Shaver has coached 27 individual NCAA champions who have won a total of 37 NCAA titles, while guiding his athletes to a total of 238 All-America honors.

Shaver joined the LSU staff after serving four seasons as an assistant coach at Auburn where he designed training programs for the team's field and multi-event athletes.

Prior to his tenure at Auburn, Shaver served as head coach for both the men's and women's track and field programs at Barton County Community College in Great Bend, Kan. His teams captured all 12 of the conference's indoor and outdoor titles in his six seasons at Barton. He also led the Barton women to eight national championships, including three indoor, three outdoor and two cross country titles. During the 1990-91 season, his women's team captured the first "National Triple Crown" in junior college history, winning the cross country, indoor track and outdoor track titles that season.

Shaver is regarded as one of the premier coaches in the sport of track and field, and he has earned national recognition for his many accomplishments throughout his coaching career.

Not only was he named the NCAA Women's Outdoor Coach of the Year by the USTFCCA in 2008, but he has also been named a three-time SEC Women's Coach of the Year with one indoor honor and two outdoor honors in the last two seasons. In 2003, he was recognized by his peers as the first USTCA Assistant Coach of the Year for Women's Sprints and Hurdles. In addition, Shaver has received eight National Coach of the Coach Shaver and his wife, Connie, at the White House for Champions Day in November 2008.

Year awards, six Kansas Collegiate Coach of the Year honors and 13 Regional Coach of the Year awards.

Shaver is certified as a Level I, II and Master Coach by USA Track and Field and is an instructor for the USATF Coaches Education curriculum of the sprint and hurdle events.

A native of Salina, Kan., Shaver earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education from the University of Texas at Arlington in 1979. In 1981, he added a master's degree in education with an emphasis on administration from Stephen F. Austin State University. Shaver and his wife, Connie, have two children. Dale (25) is a sales consultant for Mike's Audio in Baton Rouge, and Lindsay (22), a 2008 summa cum laude graduate of Southeastern Louisiana School of Nursing, is an RN in children's oncology at Our Lady of the Lake Hospital in Baton Rouge.

A fixture at LSU for nearly two decades, first as an athlete and now as a coach, Mark Elliott begins his 16th season with the program and his fourth as an assistant head coach working with LSU's distance runners and its cross country teams.

The Tigers and Lady Tigers continued to stake their claim among the nation's premier programs in 2008 as Elliott coached eight athletes to All-America honors.

With Elliott's coaching, LaTavia Thomas has quickly developed into one of the top young 800-meter runners in the United States in just two short seasons in Baton Rouge. Thomas, who swept SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles as a freshman in 2007, took her performance one step further as a sophomore by being crowned 800-meter champion at the NCAA Indoor Championships and finishing runner-up at the NCAA Outdoor meet before qualifying for the 800-meter final at the 2008 U.S. Olympic Trials.

Thomas is the third athlete that Elliott has coached to an NCAA title in the 800 as she joins the likes of LSU greats Marian Burnett (2002) and Neisha Bernard-Thomas (2004) as national champions in the event.

In his only season with the men's team, former LSU standout Elkana Kosgei won a pair of All-America honors as one of the nation's top 800-meter runners in 2008. After finishing runner-up in the event at the NCAA Indoor Championships, Kosgei earned the highest finish for a Tiger at the NCAA Outdoor Championships by placing fourth.

In addition, Reuben Twijukye received All-America recognition with a fifth-place finish in the 800 meters at the NCAA Indoor meet, while Elliott coached LSU's distance medley relay team to its first ever All-America honor as the squad of Michael Hendry, Armani Hayes, Jamaal James and John Kosgei placed sixth nationally.

Not only that, but John Kosgei proved to be LSU's top distance runner in more than a decade after winning the SEC Commissioner's Trophy as the top individual point scorer at the 2008 SEC Indoor Championships with wins in the mile and 3,000 meters. He was also an NCAA Championships qualifier in the 3,000 meters indoors and 1,500 meters outdoors.

LSU's young middle distance corps enjoyed unprecedented success during the 2007 season under Elliott's watch as the squad featured arguably the top freshmen 800-meter runners in all of collegiate track and field on both the men's and women's sides. In addition to earning All-America honors in the 800 meters with a fifth-place finish at the NCAA Indoor Championships, James became the first athlete to sweep SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles in a season since Otukile Lekote of South Carolina in 2002. Thomas was equally impressive on the women's side as she also swept SEC titles in 2007, marking the first time that had been accomplished since Florida's Tameika Grizzle did so in 2000.

The Tigers and Lady Tigers actually made history at the 2007 SEC Outdoor Track and Field Championships by finishing 1-2 in the finals of both the men's and women's 800 meters. While James and Thomas took top honors in the event, Twijukye and Tanya Osbourne finished runner-up, which is believed to be the only time in the history of the meet that one school took the top two spots in each race in the same season.

During his tenure at LSU, Elliott has been responsible for the development of many standout distance runners at both the collegiate and international levels, including David Kiptoo, Joseph Tengalei and Passmore Furusa. Kiptoo finished sixth in the men's 800-meter final at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta, while Tengalei was ranked fifth in the world in the 800 meters in 1995. Furusa went on to earn All-America honors five times while competing for the Tigers.

Elliott has also coached former Lady Tiger half-milers Marian Burnett (Guyana) and Neisha Bernard-Thomas (Grenada) to berths into the Olympic Games and IAAF World Championships in recent years. After advancing to the 800-meter semifinal at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Burnett competed at the IAAF World Championships in 2005 and 2007 before making her second career Olympics appearance this past summer. Bernard-Thomas, a World Championships participant in 2005, advanced to the semifinal in her Olympics debut this past summer.

Elliott actually served as the head coach for the Guyana track and field team at the 2004 Olympic Games before returning to the squad as the head coach at the 2007 IAAF World Championships. He was also an assistant coach for Grenada at the World Championships in 2005.

Both Burnett and Bernard-Thomas enjoyed tremendous collegiate careers under Elliott. Bernard-Thomas, who wrapped up her career as the school-record holder in the half mile with a collegiate best of 2:01.32, won the NCAA Outdoor title in 2004 before finishing runner-up at the indoor national meet in 2005. She was also the winner at the Central American and Caribbean Championships in 2003. Elliott also guided Burnett to an NCAA Indoor title in 2002 as she took first place with an impressive time of 2:05.16 at the indoor meet.

The LSU men have also flourished under Elliott's direction, and Jeffrey Fisher finished his career as the school-record holder in the 800 meters. Fisher set the Tigers' indoor 800-meter mark of 1:48.98 at the SEC Championships in 2003 before qualifying for the 2005 USA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in his specialty.

The cross country teams have also enjoyed a measure of success with Elliott leading the way. He coached former LSU distance standout Joseph Simuchimba to the NCAA Cross Country Championships in 2007, his fifth athlete to qualify for the meet.

In 2000, Elliott helped Likhaya Dayile become the first man since Furusa in 1994 to qualify for the NCAA Cross Country Championships. Elliott also guided LSU's men's cross country team to a fourth-place finish at the SEC Championships, marking the Tigers' best finish at the event since a second-place showing in 1989 when Elliott himself donned the purple and gold. That same year Susanne Strunz developed into one of the nation's premier 3,000-meter steeplechase threats, finishing second in the event at the SEC Championships and later qualifying for the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

Dayile and Strunz were not the first athletes to achieve success under Elliott's tutelage. In the mid-1990s, he helped transform former Lady Tiger Charlotte Mayock into one of the nation's top distance runners when she became the first Lady Tiger to earn All-America honors in a distance more than 1,000 meters, placing seventh in the mile at the 1997 NCAA Indoor Championships. Mayock later advanced to the finals in the 3,000 meters at the 1997 NCAA Outdoor Championships and again qualified for the finals in the mile at the 1998 NCAA Indoor Championships.

That same season, the women's cross country team placed fifth at the SEC Cross Country Championships, marking the Lady Tigers' best ever finish at that event.

A 1991 graduate of LSU, Elliott brings to the table a wealth of personal experience. A four-time NCAA All-American while competing for the Tigers, Elliott was a member of four consecutive national outdoor championship teams (two at LSU in the NCAAAs and two at Blinn College in the NJCAAs). Individually, Elliott earned runner-up honors in the 3,000 meters at the 1989 NCAA Indoor Championships and was a top-five finisher on three different occasions in a variety of other distance events, including the 5,000 and 10,000-meter races. Prior to his career at LSU, Elliott was a 14-time junior college All-American at Blinn Junior College in Brenham, Texas.

A native of Spanish Town, Jamaica, Elliott earned his bachelor of science degree from LSU in 1991 and his associate of arts degree from Blinn Junior College in 1988. Elliott later added a master's degree in kinesiology to his resume in August of 2000. Born on October 21, 1966, in Kingston, Jamaica, Elliott is the father of two children, Breanna and Ashley.

Marvin Gibson

Assistant Coach • Fourth Season • LSU, 1996

Marvin Gibson enters his fourth season as an assistant coach on the LSU staff where he is responsible for not only recruiting the nation's premier athletes, but also working with one of the nation's elite men's sprints and hurdles groups. This group flourished under Gibson a season ago as LSU dominated the men's sprints at the NCAA level in 2008 led by LSU great Richard Thompson.

Thompson burst onto the international scene as one of the top young sprinters in the world with his silver-medal winning run in the 100-meter dash at the Olympic Games in Beijing. Thompson, a native of Trinidad and Tobago, tied the collegiate record of 9.89 seconds in the final to finish second behind only world-record holder and gold medalist Usain Bolt of Jamaica. He went on to win Olympic silver in the 4x100-meter relay.

Thompson wrapped up his collegiate career in 2008 by being named the NCAA Men's Outdoor Track Athlete of the Year after Gibson coached him to a sweep of NCAA titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters, while also adding a runner-up finish in the 200 meters at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. He became the first sprinter in the history of LSU track and field to break the 10-second barrier in the 100-meter dash with a winning time of 9.93 at the SEC Championships.

Thompson's personal-best times of 6.51 in the 60 meters and 9.89 in the 100 meters are school records that may never be broken. Not only did Thompson tie the collegiate record in the 100 meters at the Olympic Games, but his winning time of 6.51 in the 60 meters at the NCAA Championships is a meet record.

LSU is world-renown for its performance in the relays, and the Tigers added yet another national title in the 4x100-meter relay to their already impressive resume as the team of Armanti Hayes, Thompson, Gabriel Mumvure and Trindon Holliday clocked the sixth-fastest time in collegiate history at 38.42 in the NCAA final. For LSU, it was their seventh national title in the 4x100 relay in program history.

Gibson also coached Holliday to another impressive season as the Tiger sprint star finished runner-up in the 60 meters at the NCAA Indoor Championships before taking third place in the 100 meters at the NCAA Outdoor meet as a junior in 2008.

Gibson's efforts helped LSU earn its third-straight runner-up finish at the NCAA Outdoor Championships and fourth second-place finish in NCAA competition since joining the staff as an assistant coach in 2005.

The Tigers earned a runner-up finish at the 2007 NCAA Outdoor Championships as Gibson coached former LSU standout Isa Phillips to a national title in the 400-meter hurdles. The Jamaican star cut 0.8 seconds off his personal best with a time of 48.51 in the national final, becoming the first Tiger to win a national title in the 400 hurdles since Billy Hardin accomplished the feat in 1964.

In addition to Phillips' success, Gibson coached Holliday to NCAA runner-up honors in the 100-meter dash at the NCAA Championships where he clocked a 10.06 in the final after setting a then school record in the event with a top time of 10.02 in the national semifinal. Holliday also anchored the Tigers' 4x100 relay to a runner-up finish at the NCAA meet after clocking a seasonal best time of 38.85 in the final.

The 2006 season was also a banner year for the men's sprints and hurdles under Gibson's watch as he was instrumental in the development of former LSU star Xavier Carter, who became the first athlete since Jesse Owens in 1935 and 1936 to capture four national titles at a single NCAA Championships. Carter took top honors in the 100 meters and 400 meters, as well as the 4x100 and 4x400-meter relays at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in 2006. In fact, he became the first athlete in the 85-year history of the meet to double in both the 100 meters and 400 meters. Carter posted the fastest collegiate times in three sprint races during the 2006 season, including the 100 meters (10.09), 200 meters (20.13) and 400 meters (44.53).

Gibson also worked with LSU great Kelly Willie, who finished his career as the most decorated athlete in the program's storied history with a school-record-tying seven national titles and an LSU best 19 All-America honors. Willie posted outstanding times of his own while competing for the Tigers in the 100 meters (10.18), 200 meters (20.13) and 400 meters (44.63) during the 2006 season.

National champion relay teams have been an integral part of LSU's winning tradition, and Gibson played a vital role in an undefeated season for the Tigers' sprint relay teams in 2006. The men's 4x100 squad capped the 2006 season by winning a national title with a collegiate best time and the fourth-fastest time in NCAA history at 38.44. The 4x400 team also clocked the nation's fastest time at 3 minutes, 1.58 seconds en route to winning an NCAA title of its own during the outdoor campaign.

Gibson was also instrumental in the record-setting performance of the 4x400-meter relay team at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in 2005 as the team clocked a collegiate record 2:59.59 in winning yet another national title. The team featured four of the nation's premier 400-meter runners that season in Reggie Dardar (46.59), Olympic gold medalist Kelly Willie (44.24), Olympic 400-meter hurdle finalist Bennie Brazell (44.84) and Xavier Carter (43.99).

A native of West Palm Beach, Fla., Gibson competed for the Tigers under former head coach Pat Henry in 1994-95 following a two-year stint at Long Beach City College where he ran for head coach Ron Allice in 1992-93. Former Lady Tiger standout Debbie Parris-Thymes enters her fourth season working as an assistant to head coach Dennis Shaver as she seeks to mold the women's sprinters and hurdlers into one of the elite groups in the nation once again in 2009.

Parris-Thymes brings a wealth of competitive experience and knowledge to the Lady Tiger program as she wrapped up an illustrious 11-year professional career at the IAAF World Track and Field Championships in August 2005. She turned that knowledge into immediate success as an assistant at LSU as she has coached nine Lady Tigers to individual national titles and 12 to All-America honors over the past three seasons.

Her athletes were the catalyst in the Lady Tigers winning their 25th NCAA team title a year ago with a victory at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. LSU's sprinters and hurdlers accounted for 59 of 67 points in the team standings as the Lady Tigers won their first NCAA Outdoor crown since 2003. In 2008, Parris-Thymes also helped guide the LSU women to their first sweep of SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles since 1996.

Under her direction, Kelly Baptiste became the first Lady Tiger in program history to sweep NCAA titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters in the same season, following in the footsteps of LSU greats Dawn Sowell (1989), Esther Jones (1990), D'Andre Hill (1994, 1995) and Sherry Fletcher (2007) as NCAA 100-meter champions. Baptiste also earned outdoor All-America honors in the 200 meters, 4x100 relay and 4x400 relay to finish as the Lady Tigers' top point scorer at the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

Using her expertise as a 400-meter hurdler, Parris-Thymes also coached former Lady Tiger star Nickiesha Wilson to an NCAA title in the event in 2008. By winning the event title, Wilson added her name alongside Schowonda Williams and Parris-Thymes as the only Lady Tigers to be crowned NCAA champion in the history of the program.

That success continued after the completion of the collegiate season as Baptiste (Trinidad & Tobago), Fletcher (Grenada) and Wilson (Jamaica) each represented their respective countries in the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, China. They were part of the largest representation of any collegiate track and field program in the United States as 12 current and former LSU athletes participated in the Olympic Games.

In 2007, Parris-Thymes helped guide the Lady Tigers to a pair of NCAA runner-up finishes during both the indoor and outdoor seasons, while the squad added yet another SEC Outdoor title to its resume.

Fletcher was among the athletes to win a national title under Parris-Thymes that season with her improbable victory in the 100-meter dash at the NCAA Championships, her first event title in an LSU uniform. The Lady Tigers also won an NCAA championship in the 4x400-meter relay during the outdoor season.

Her athletes went on to achieve great success in international competition during the summer of 2007, led by Wilson's fourth-place finish in the 400-meter hurdles at the IAAF World Championships in Osaka, Japan. Wilson shattered the school record in the event en route to the final with a time of 53.97 seconds in the semifinal round. The previous record of 54.82 was set by Williams in 1987. In addition to Wilson's performance, Fletcher also competed in the 200 meters at the World Championships.

Having competed extensively at the highest level of international track and field for more than a decade, the former "Tiger of the Year" turned in numerous outstanding performances while under Shaver's watchful eye. Her professional career included appearances in two Olympic Games, six World Championships, two Commonwealth Games and two Goodwill Games among many other elite international competitions.

A specialist in the 400 hurdles herself, Parris-Thymes' resume boasts three Jamaican national titles, one Central American and Caribbean title, two Commonwealth Games silver medals, a pair of Goodwill Games silver medals, three World Championships finals appearances and two Top 10 finishes at the Olympic Games.

Her success was nurtured at the collegiate level while spending two highly successful seasons as a member of the Lady Tigers' national championship squad. An eight-time All-American, Parris-Thymes won a total of five NCAA titles, five SEC titles and was awarded the SEC Commissioner's Trophy in 1994 for her efforts. She currently ranks third on the school's all-time outdoor performance list in the 400 hurdles with a top time of 55.17 seconds during her collegiate career.

A native of Trelawny, Jamaica, Parris-Thymes graduated from LSU in 1995 with a bachelor's degree in sociology. She is married to Derrick Thymes, a former member of the LSU football and track teams, and they have a daughter named Jana Marie Thymes.

Todd Lane

Assistant Coach • Second Season • Luther College, 1995

The LSU jumps program boasts one of the proudest traditions in the history of collegiate track and field in the United States, and assistant coach Todd Lane looks to continue that tradition as he enters his second season as a member of the LSU coaching staff in 2009.

The Tigers and Lady Tigers enjoyed tremendous success under Lane in his first season in Baton Rouge as seven athletes qualified for the NCAA Championships a year ago.

Not only that, but Lane coached Andrea Linton to her first career All-America honor in the long jump with a seventh-place finish at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships, in addition to her second career SEC triple jump title with a win at the SEC Indoor Championships in March 2008.

Lane also coached two athletes to All-SEC honors at the SEC Outdoor Championships as Katelyn Rodrigue and Jeremy Hicks earned runner-up finishes in their respective events. Rodrigue became the first Lady Tiger to earn all-conference honors in the pole vault either indoor or outdoor with a second-place finish at the outdoor meet, while Hicks also finished runner-up in the long jump to earn his second career All-SEC honor in the event.

"LSU certainly has an outstanding tradition in the jumps and multi-events, and I'm very excited with the potential we have with this group heading into the 2009 season," Lane said. "We had some success last season, and we're looking to take that one step further this spring as major point contributors at the NCAA level."

Lane joined the LSU coaching staff after spending one season at the University of Miami, where he was voted the top women's jumps and combined events assistant in the East Region by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association in 2007.

The Hurricanes enjoyed great success under Lane's tutelage as he coached his athletes to a total of three All-America honors, eight All-Atlantic Coast Conference awards, four ACC titles and one current school record. In addition, Brenda Faluade and Amy Seward swept postseason honors by being named the ACC Indoor Field Performer of the Year and ACC Outdoor Field Performer of the Year, respectively.

Faluade won ACC titles in both the indoor triple jump and outdoor long jump during the 2007 campaign, while she was also a two-time All-American with a second-place finish in the long jump at the NCAA Indoor Championships and a seventh-place finish in the event at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. She set a new outdoor school record in the long jump with a top mark of 21 feet, 5 inches.

Seward was also an All-American during the outdoor season as she finished seventh in the long jump at the NCAA Outdoor Championships after winning an ACC indoor title and NCAA East Regional title in the event along with an ACC outdoor title in the heptathlon. She was named the ACC Meet Most Valuable Field Performer for her effort at the ACC Outdoor Championships as she also earned All-ACC honors in the long jump along with her heptathlon crown.

In addition to the outstanding performances of Faluade and Seward, Deandra Doyley earned All-ACC recognition in the long jump during the outdoor season with a runner-up finish at the ACC Outdoor Track and Field Championships, giving the Hurricanes a 1-2-3 finish in the event.

Prior to joining the staff at Miami, Lane served as an assistant coach at Ball State University of the Mid-American Conference where he coached three MAC champions and 10 All-MAC selections from 2004-06. In 2006, he helped guide BSU to a runner-up finish at the MAC Indoor Championships and a third-place showing at the MAC Outdoor Championships before being named interim head coach following the season.

Lane is not without head coaching experience as he was the head track and field coach at Georgia Southern University for five years where he oversaw the program from its inception in 1999. He quickly established himself as the premier head coach in the Southern Conference as he was named the SoCon Outdoor Coach of the Year in 2003 and 2004 after leading Georgia Southern to back-to-back runner-up finishes at the SoCon Outdoor Championships.

Lane is a Level II certified coach and currently serves as a Level II jumps instructor. His wife, Turena, is one of the top marathon runners in the United States and has represented her country in the event at the IAAF World Championships in Athletics.

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, the 35-year-old Lane graduated from Luther College (Iowa) in May 1995 with a bachelor's degree in political science. He has also received two master's degrees from Georgia Southern University, including one in sport management in May 1997 and a second in exercise science in December 2005.

RECORDS

The LSU throws group flourished under the direction of first-year assistant coach Derek Yush during the 2008 campaign, and he looks to firmly establish the Tigers and Lady Tigers among the nation's elite as he enters his second season with the program in 2009.

A total of eight student-athletes set personal best marks a year ago in events ranging from the shot put and weight throw indoors, to the shot put, discus, hammer throw and javelin outdoors.

Not only that, but Yush coached Preston Chatham to his first career All-America honor during the outdoor season as the Covington, La., native earned a fourth-place finish in the javelin at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. Chatham's five points was a catalyst for the Tigers' third-straight national runner-up finish at the meet.

In addition to Chatham's performance at the NCAA Championships, seven other LSU throwers saw action at the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships, including Ricky Jean-Francois and Adam Wilcox in the shot put, Rabun Fox and Kim Williams in the hammer throw, and Mark DeBlanc, Anna Lyons and Chad Radgowski in the javelin.

LSU is sure to be even more competitive in the throws in 2009 after Yush recruited a talented class of throwers highlighted by sophomore transfer Walter Henning. At the University of North Carolina a year ago, Henning earned indoor All-America honors with a third-place finish in the weight throw at the NCAA Indoor Championships, while also winning ACC championships in the weight throw and hammer throw at the conference meet.

Henning then added the title of World Junior Champion this past summer with Yush as his coach as he enjoyed a gold-medal winning performance in the 6-kg. hammer throw at the 2008 IAAF World Junior Championships in Bydgoszcz, Poland. His winning throw of 252-4 at the meet is an American junior record in the event.

"We're very excited about the potential of the group of throwers we have coming back as we look to compete for another national championship this season," Yush said. "We have a good mixture of youth and experience in all the throws that is sure to produce results for years to come. We expect only the best at LSU, and we feel like we can be one of the top throws groups in the nation this season. It's shaping up to be another exciting season for LSU track and field."

Yush came to LSU a year ago after spending the previous eight seasons at the University of Rhode Island, where he coached the men's throws, jumps and multi-events while also acting as an assistant with the cross country team. Rhode Island enjoyed tremendous success under Yush's tutelage as he helped lead the squad to II Atlantic-10 Conference titles from 2001-07, including five indoor and six outdoor crowns.

The Rams also excelled individually on a national level as Yush coached a total of 24 NCAA Regional qualifiers in six events, while also guiding his athletes to 51 Atlantic-10 championships and 15 New England individual titles in eight events during his tenure at the school.

"I've known Coach Yush for a number of years now, and after talking with him I felt like he would be a great fit for our program," said LSU head coach Dennis Shaver. "He's without a doubt one of the top throws coaches in the nation, and his coaching philosophy falls right in line with what we're trying to do here. He has the knowledge and experience necessary to continue LSU's strong tradition in the throws and help us compete on a national level."

In addition to his experience at Rhode Island, Yush brings head coaching experience to the position as he served as the head men's and women's coach at Eastern Connecticut State University from 1998-99. He actually got his start in the coaching profession at ECSU as he was named the assistant sprints, jumps and throws coach in 1997. During his time at Eastern Connecticut State, Yush helped develop several All-Eastern College Athletic Conference performers as well as an All-American long jumper.

The Enfield, Conn., native also served two seasons as an administrative assistant at the University of Connecticut where he served as a team captain and helped lead the Huskies to Big East and New England titles as a senior. He was a consistent scorer at the Big East meet and was an All-Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America performer.

Yush has earned a USA Track and Field Level II Coaching Certificate as he is fully certified to coach sprints, hurdles, relays, jumps, throws and multi-events. He is also a certified strength and conditioning specialist after joining the National Strength and Conditioning Association in 1997. He earned a bachelor's degree in dietetics from Connecticut in May 1997.

His wife, Kristal, is one of the world's premier hammer throwers as she represented the United States at the 2007 IAAF World Championships in Athletics in Osaka, Japan. She made her first career appearance at the World Championships after winning a silver medal at the 2007 AT&T USA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

National Champions Once Again! Lady Tigers Return to Glory

The Lady Tigers returned to the pinnacle of collegiate track and field in 2008 with their dramatic victory over defending champion Arizona State at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. LSU scored a total of 67 points over the course of four days of competition, while the Sun Devils managed 63 points to finish runner-up in the team standings. The win marked a milestone for the Lady Tiger program as it was their 25th national championship in team history, which are more NCAA crowns than any other women's program in collegiate athletics. Not only that, but LSU has now won a total of 31 NCAA team championships all-time as the men own six titles of their own. The 2008 season marked the 75th anniversary of LSU's first national championship won by the men's track and field team at the 1933 NCAA Championships in Chicago.

LSU Women Clinch National Championship on Relay

The race for the team title at the 2008 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships was decided with the last event of the meet as both LSU and Arizona State were tied at 59 points apiece, advancing a foursome into the final of the 4x400-meter relay. The stage was set for a dramatic conclusion as the team that crossed the finish line first would walk away as national champions of the 2008 season. LSU head coach Dennis Shaver elected to run with a foursome of senior Brooklynn Morris, senior Kelly Baptiste, junior LaTavia Thomas and senior Deonna Lawrence. The group did not disappoint as it crossed the finish line in second place with a time of 3 minutes, 28.33 seconds, while the Sun Devils managed a fifth-place finish with a time of 3:33.45. With 21 events in the books, the final score of the meet read LSU 67, Arizona State 63.

Tigers Earn Third-Straight Runner-Up Finish at NCAA Championships

Armed with the nation's premier groups of sprinters led by senior Richard Thompson and junior Trindon Holliday, the Tigers earned a runner-up finish in the team standings at the NCAA Outdoor Championships for the third-straight season. LSU actually tied for second place with the Auburn Tigers after scoring 44 points for the meet, while the Florida State Seminoles won their third-straight team title after racking up a total of 52 points in four days of competition. The Tigers have now finished in the top five at the outdoor national meet for nine-straight seasons dating back to the 2000 campaign. The men's team also earned a fourth-place finish at the 2008 NCAA Indoor Championships in Fayetteville, Ark.

Thompson Wins Two Silver Medals in Olympics Debut

After wrapping up one of the more dominant seasons in recent history at the collegiate level, LSU senior Richard Thompson made his debut at the Olympic Games while wearing the colors of his native Trinidad and Tobago. With the spotlight shining brightly on American Tyson Gay and Jamaicans Usain Bolt and Asafa Powell, Thompson was an afterthought when considering who would take their place on the medal podium. But he showed why he is one of the world's premier young sprinters by winning a silver medal in his Olympics debut after crossing the finish line with a new personal-best time of 9.89 seconds in the final, trailing only the world-record run of 9.69 by Bolt. Not only that, but Thompson anchored Trinidad's 4x100-meter relay team to a silver medal to put an exclamation point onto the end of a truly unforgettable season.

Tiger Great Sets Collegiate Record in 100-Meter Dash at Olympics

Thompson's silver-medal-winning run of 9.89 in the 100-meter final at the Olympic Games also goes down as a new collegiate record in the event as he ties the mark set by Clemson star Travis Padgett at the 2008 U.S. Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore. Thompson is the first LSU sprinter to ever break the 10-second barrier in the 100 meters, accomplishing the feat a total of five times during the 2008 season. He nearly set the collegiate record with a then school-record time of 9.93 in the finals at the SEC Championships, while he won the NCAA Mid-east Regional title in 9.97. He also recorded times of 9.93 and 9.99 in qualifying at the Olympic Games.

LSU Leads NCAA in Number of 2008 Olympians

No other collegiate track and field program was represented by more athletes at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, China, than LSU as a total of 12 Tigers and Lady Tigers past and present competed for their respective countries in the world's premier competition. In fact, athletes from seven different countries made the trip to Beijing, including Kelly Baptiste (Trinidad and Tobago), Neisha Bernard-Thomas (Grenada), Marian Burnett (Guyana), Laverne Eve (Bahamas), Sherry Fletcher (Grenada), Alleyne Francique (Grenada), Lolo Jones (United States), Muna Lee (United States), Isa Phillips (Jamaica), Richard Thompson (Trinidad and Tobago), Siraj Williams (Liberia) and Nickiesha Wilson (Jamaica).

Thompson Sweeps Sprint Titles at NCAA Championships

With his performance in 2008, Richard Thompson may go down as the greatest sprinter to ever wear the LSU uniform. He became the first Tiger to sweep NCAA titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters in the same season before running the second leg on LSU's 4x100-meter relay team that also won a national title in 2008. Thompson was honored for his performance by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association following the collegiate season with the title of NCAA Men's Outdoor Track Athlete of the Year. He wrapped up his LSU career as a four-time NCAA champion, a five-time SEC champion and an eight-time All-American in four seasons with the program. His school records of 6.51 in the 60 meters and 9.89 in the 100 meters may never be broken.

Baptiste Becomes Fifth Lady Tiger to Win NCAA 100-Meter Title

The 2008 season was also a historic one for senior sprinter Kelly Baptiste as she became the first Lady Tiger to sweep national titles in the 60 meters and 100 meters in the same season. Her win in the 100-meter final at the NCAA Outdoor Championships marked the fifth time that a Lady Tiger has been crowned national champion in the most prestigious event in track and field. By crossing the finish line with a winning time of 11.20 in the national final, Baptiste put her name alongside LSU greats Dawn Sowell (1989), Esther Jones (1990), D'Andre Hill (1994, 1995) and Sherry Fletcher (2007) as the only Lady Tigers to win the NCAA 100-meter title.

Wilson Crowned NCAA Champion in 400 Hurdles, Signs Pro Contract

In just two short seasons, Nickiesha Wilson cemented her place among the elite hurdlers to ever compete for the Lady Tigers by racking up nine All-America honors during her career. She helped lead the Lady Tigers to the national championship during the 2008 outdoor season by scoring a total of 18 individual points at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. Wilson became just the third Lady Tiger in program history to win an NCAA title in the 400-meter hurdles as she beat defending champion Nicole Leach of UCLA to the finish line with a seasonal-best time of 54.45, joining Schowonda Williams (1988) and Debbie Parris (1993, 1994) as the only Lady Tigers to win the event at the national meet. She went on to finish runner-up in the finals of the 100-meter hurdles on the final day of the competition before electing to forego her senior season by signing a lucrative contract with adidas following the Olympic Games.

Holliday Anchors LSU's Sprint Relay to National Title

LSU is world-famous for its performance in the relay events, and the Tigers proved once again that they are the nation's best by taking the title in the 4x100-meter relay at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. While running with a foursome of sophomore Armanti Hayes, senior Richard Thompson, freshman Gabriel Mvumvure and junior Trindon Holliday, the Tigers clocked the sixth-fastest time in the history of collegiate track and field with a winning time of 38.42 in the national final. Holliday trailed Texas A&M standout Chris Dykes when he got the stick on the anchor leg, but ran past Dykes on the home stretch to give LSU its seventh NCAA title in the event all-time. LSU's sprint relay also won titles at the Texas Relays, Penn Relays and SEC Championships during the 2008 season.

Thomas Emerges as Nation's Top Young Middle Distance Runner

LaTavia Thomas has quickly developed into one of the top young 800-meter runners in the United States in just two short seasons in Baton Rouge, and 2008 was certainly a breakout season for the Lady Tiger star. Thomas shocked the sport of collegiate track and field by defeating defending champion Alycia Johnson of California for the 800-meter title at the NCAA Indoor Championships in March. She went on to help the Lady Tigers win the team title at the NCAA Outdoor Championships by finishing second in the event while again sweeping SEC Indoor and Outdoor titles for the second year in a row. If that were not enough, Thomas advanced to the finals of the 800 meters in her first career appearance at the U.S. Olympic Trials where she finished in 11th place.

Lady Tigers Continue Dominance in 4x400-Meter Relay

LSU's dominance in the relays is second to none in women's collegiate track and field, and the Lady Tigers continued that trend last season by winning a national title in the 4x400-meter relay at the NCAA Indoor Championships in Fayetteville, Ark. The foursome of senior Brooklynn Morris, junior Nickiesha Wilson, sophomore LaTavia Thomas and senior Deonna Lawrence combined to run a seasonal-best time of 3:31.14 in the national final to win the sixth NCAA Indoor crown in the 4x400-meter relay in team history. The Lady Tigers have won a total of 12 national titles in the event all-time as they also boast six relay wins at the NCAA Outdoor meet.

Lady Tigers Sweep Team Titles at SEC Championships

Not only were the Lady Tigers crowned national champions with their win at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in June, but they also continued their dominance in the Southeastern Conference by running away with the team titles at the SEC Indoor and Outdoor Championships during the 2008 season. It marked the first time since 1996 that the LSU women had swept both conference crowns in the same season, while winning their third-straight team championship in SEC competition after taking home the title during the SEC Outdoor meet in 2007. The Lady Tigers defeated Tennessee by a score of 133-118 at the 2008 SEC Indoor Championships followed by a dominating 157.5-129 victory over Florida at the 2008 SEC Outdoor Championships. LSU has now won a total of 46 conference championships in its history between the men's and women's programs.

LSU Makes History with Six Titles at Penn Relays

The 114th running of the Penn Relays proved to be unlike any other for the LSU track and field teams as the squads wrapped up the competition with a meet record six Championship of America relay titles during the three-day relay carnival. The Lady Tigers won four relay wagon wheels in the 4x100, 4x800, sprint medley and shuttle hurdle relays, while the Tigers added titles in the 4x100 and sprint medley relays. The weekend was history in the making for LSU as its six Championship of America relay titles is a combined record for men's and women's teams at one university in one year at the Penn Relays, eclipsing the mark of five set by Villanova in 1978 and equaled by LSU in 2007.

LSU Greats Win Titles at U.S. Olympic Trials

Two Lady Tiger greats represented the United States at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing after winning their respective events at the U.S. Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore. Lolo Jones established herself as the world's premier sprint hurdler with her performance in 2008, winning her first career World Indoor title in the 60-meter hurdles before running away with the championship in the 100-meter hurdles at the Olympic Trials. Her blistering wind-aided time of 12.29 in the final is the fastest that any American woman has cleared all 10 hurdles in the 100-meter race in the history of the sport under all conditions. Jones also set a new personal best of 12.45 in the semifinal round. She was not the only Lady Tiger to shine at the Olympic Trials as Muna Lee won the 100-meter title with a new personal-best time and Hayward Field stadium record of 10.85.

Track & Field

An Era OF EXCELLENCE

2008 Women's NCAA Outdoor National Champions

Since 1897, LSU track and field has built an illustrious history filled with some of the most memorable performers and achievements in the school's colorful athletic heritage. From its quiet birth at the Tulane Spring Games to its seat atop collegiate track prominence, there are two factors that have remained consistent in the 110-year history of the program -- success through hard work and an unmatched will to win.

H. Warren Taylor, Jr., LSU track and field historian, wrote it best when he said, "Tom Sherburne and Devall drew the distinction of being the first men of the Old War Skule to carry the purple and gold on the cinder path. That they failed to win in their events does not distract from their envious place in Tiger track history; for they were the forerunners of a host of sterling athletes that have established a record of consistent winning unsurpassed in the southland."

The rest is history.

National Championships

After winning five Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association conference championships between 1913-1922 and capturing three consecutive SIC titles, Tiger track and field burst onto the national scene with an improbable upset of heavily-favored Southern California to win the 1933 national championship at Soldier Field in Chicago. The LSU track team was led by the speed of Glenn "Slats" Hardin and the strength of Jack Torrance. Hardin set new world records in the 440-yard dash (47.1) and 220 low hurdles (22.9), while Torrance did the same in the shot put (52-10).

Despite their record-breaking performances, the national title did not rest in the Tigers' hands until the final event when Matt Gordy cleared 14 feet in the pole vault for the first time in his career to secure LSU's first ever national championship in any sport.

With the men already firmly established among the nation's elite, the Lady Tigers captured their first national championship in 1987 in the program's sixth season of existence. Led by NCAA individual champions Schowonda Williams, Sylvia Brydson and Sheila Echols, the LSU women swept both the indoor and outdoor national titles that season. They went on to repeat their outdoor success in 1988.

The LSU track and field program then reached a pinnacle in 1989 and 1990 as the teams brought a combined five national championships to Baton Rouge. The Tigers and Lady Tigers each won back-to-back NCAA Outdoor titles, while the women added an indoor title during the 1989 season. LSU's success during the two-year span marked the first time in NCAA history that the same school won both the men's and women's crowns at the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

The Lady Tigers pulled off another sweep in 1991, again claiming NCAA team titles at both the indoor and outdoor national meets.

One of the most memorable moments in LSU track lore came at the 1992 national championships in Austin, Texas. Trailing Florida entering the final day of competition, the Lady Tigers used a team effort to rally and defeat the Lady Gators, 87-81, for an unprecedented sixth consecutive national crown.

The Lady Tigers showed their dominance once again by winning two more national titles in 1993. They captured their fourth indoor national championship in seven years by winning the last event of the meet - the 4x400-meter relay - in a then school-record time of 3 minutes, 33.63 seconds. After their triumph during the indoor season, the LSU women then went 80 miles south of where they started their outdoor streak in 1987 to their seventh consecutive NCAA Outdoor championship. The Lady Tigers did so in record-breaking fashion, scoring a school record 93 points to outscore their nearest competitor by a remarkable 49 points.

They made history again in 1996 by winning their 10th straight outdoor national championship. Never before had a women's team won at least 10-straight titles in any NCAA sport. Led by seniors D'Andre Hill, Kim Carson and Zundra Feagin, the Lady Tigers stormed into historic Hayward Field in Eugene, Ore., and took their place in history.

While an outsider might see an 11th-straight NCAA Outdoor title in 1997 as just another day at the office, it was far from it.

A heavy underdog, the LSU women exploded for 43 points on the final day to capture the outdoor crown once again in Bloomington, Ind. The competition came down to a single event between LSU and Texas - the 200-meter final. LSU qualified Astia Walker and Peta-Gaye Dowdie, while Texas countered with two runners as well. The Lady Tigers knew they had to outscore Texas by a single point to win the title. Walker finished second and Dowdie placed fifth, while Nanceen Perry and Angie Vaughan of Texas placed third and fourth, respectively.

When the points were tallied, LSU outscored Texas, 12-11, in the most crucial race of the meet to give the Lady Tigers the one-point advantage they needed to clinch the overall title by the score of 63-62.

The Lady Tigers also claimed a fifth-straight NCAA Indoor crown in 1997 for their eighth in an 11-year span. Remarkably, the LSU women took home 19 of a possible 22 NCAA team championships between the 1987-97 seasons, creating a dynasty unmatched by any other in the history of women's athletics.

Despite a three-year hiatus, the Lady Tigers regained the title they last held in 1997 by winning their 12th title at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in 2000. The Lady Tigers scored 46 points on the final day of competition to edge USC, 58-54.

LSU picked up yet another national title in 2001, but this time, it was the men's team stealing the spotlight. Needing a miracle in the final event of the NCAA Indoor Championships, the Tigers' prayers were answered when the foursome of Robert Parham, Lueroy Colquhoun, Pedro Tunon and Alleyne Francique won the 4x400-meter relay and TCU failed to score, giving the Tigers a 34-33 edge over the Horned Frogs in one of the most exciting finishes in NCAA history. Walter Davis scored 18 of LSU's 34 points in the meet, winning the triple jump and finishing second in the long jump.

Both teams added championships to their already impressive resumes in 2002 with the women winning the team title at the NCAA Indoor Championships in Fayetteville, Ark., and the men capturing the crown at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in front of a home crowd at the Bernie Moore Track Stadium in Baton Rouge. The Lady Tigers would go on to sweep NCAA Indoor and Outdoor titles in 2003 while being led by individual champions Muna Lee and Lolo Jones, as well as a 4x100-meter relay team that set the low-altitude collegiate record of 42.55 at the NCAA Outdoor meet.

LSU made history once again in 2004 as it became the first school in NCAA history to claim both the men's and women's titles at the indoor national championships. Spearheaded by Lee's national title in the 60-meter dash and runner-up performances by Jones in the 60-meter hurdles and Neisha Bernard-Thomas in the 800 meters, the Lady Tigers squeaked out a 52-51 win over UCLA.

It was LSU's jumps corps that proved to be the difference in the Tigers' victory as the team was led by the likes of John Moffitt, LeJuan Simon and Willie Bradley to its first indoor crown since 2001. Moffitt won the long jump title and was then part of the Tigers' unprecedented 1-2-3 sweep in the triple jump. Simon won the individual title with Moffitt finishing second and Bradley coming in third.

Since the Lady Tigers won their first national championship in 1987, no four-year senior class has ever left Baton Rouge without winning at least one team title at the NCAA Championships. It's a remarkable streak that spans 22 seasons and a legacy that is with the squad each time it steps onto the track. But in 2008, it appeared the streak might come to an end at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in Des Moines, Iowa.

After joining the program as freshmen in 2005, members of the Class of 2008 had finished runner-up at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor Championships three times, but without a title to show for their efforts. That would all change in dramatic fashion at Drake Stadium on the campus of Drake University.

LSU and defending NCAA Outdoor champion Arizona State entered the final event of the track meet - the 4x400-meter relay - tied with 59 points apiece and a foursome on the track. The team that crossed the finish line first would walk away as national champions of the 2008 outdoor season.

On this day, it was LSU winning the team title behind the efforts of senior Brooklynn Morris, senior Kelly Baptiste, sophomore LaTavia Thomas and senior Deonna Lawrence, who finished the relay in second-place ahead of the fifth-place finish by the Sun Devils. And for eight Lady Tiger seniors who made the trip to Des Moines, it was their first time to lift the national championship trophy in celebration of their accomplishment.

Baptiste was the star for the Lady Tigers, scoring 19 of LSU's 67 points for the meet with an NCAA title in the 100-meter dash, along with All-America performances in the 200 meters, 4x100-meter relay and 4x400-meter relay.

Olympics and World Championships

The LSU track and field program is recognized worldwide for its contribution to the sport, and the purple and gold was certainly on display in the summer of 2008 as 12 current and former athletes representing seven countries from around the world gathered in Beijing, China, to compete in the Games of the XXIX Olympiad. In fact, LSU had more representatives than any other collegiate track and field program in the country.

In one of the most exciting races in the 112-year history of the modern Olympic Games, senior Richard Thompson won a silver medal in the 100-meter dash for his native Trinidad and Tobago with a personal-best time of 9.89 seconds. Thompson finished behind only the world-record run of 9.69 by Jamaica's Usain Bolt. He then anchored Trinidad to a silver medal in the 4x100-meter relay for his second medal in his Olympics debut.

But Thompson was not the only LSU athlete to represent his country proudly as sprinter Muna Lee and hurdler Lolo Jones also shined for the United States in Beijing. Lee was the fourth-place finisher in the 200 meters after finishing fifth in the 100 meters, while Jones placed seventh in the 100-meter hurdles in her first appearance at the Olympic Games.

LSU's participation in major international competition can be traced back to 1928 in Amsterdam when Sid Bowman became the first Tiger to compete at the Olympic Games, finishing sixth in the triple jump. Bowman and LSU legend Glenn "Slats" Hardin later placed at the 1932 Olympic Games in Los Angeles as Hardin became LSU's first medal winner by taking silver in the 400 hurdles.

At the 1936 Berlin Games, Adolf Hitler and Nazi Germany watched as LSU's Hardin, Jack Torrance and Billy Brown competed for the United States. Hardin made history in the 400 hurdles, becoming the first and only LSU track athlete to win an individual Olympic gold medal.

LSU's next Olympic Games participant came in 1964 as Billy Hardin ran the 400 hurdles for the United States in Tokyo, Japan. It would then be 24 years before LSU had another athlete perform in this international arena once again.

At the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, Sheila Echols of the United States became the first Lady Tiger to win a gold medal as she earned distinction as a member of the United States' gold-medal winning 4x100-meter relay team. She competed in Seoul alongside LSU greats Schowonda Williams (United States), Robin van Helden (Holland), Mikael Olander (Sweden), Laverne Eve (Bahamas) and Angela Phipps (Canada).

The LSU contingent at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics was led by 21-time All-American Esther Jones of the United States, who won a gold medal as a member of the winning 4x100-meter relay. It marked the second-straight Olympics that a Lady Tiger led the United States to gold in the event as she followed in the footsteps of Echols in 1988.

represented once again at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta as a former athlete won Olympic gold for the third-straight games. Glenroy Gilbert ran the second leg on Canada's 4x100-meter relay that shocked the United States to win gold. The only American collegiate woman to compete in a track event in Atlanta, D'Andre Hill advanced to the semifinals of the 100-meter dash. While representing Jamaica, Debbie Parris just missed the medal stand by placing fourth in the 400-meter hurdles, while David Kiptoo finished sixth in the men's 800 meters while running for Kenya.

During the 1999 indoor season, former Tiger All-American Rohsaan Griffin made a splash in the 200-meter dash by smashing the American indoor record in the event with a time of 20.32. His blistering mark won him the American title that year and qualified him into the finals at World Indoor Championships.

At the 1999 World Championships in Seville, Spain, LSU was again well-represented among the field of talented track athletes as 12 former LSU athletes were on hand. Lady Tiger All-American Peta-Gaye Dowdie won a bronze medal as the anchor leg on Jamaica's 4x100-meter relay team.

Just a year later, LSU once again had its share of representatives at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. Eight athletes with LSU ties made the trek halfway across the world to compete for their respective countries. Claston Bernard and Walter Davis made the trip down under representing Jamaica and the United States, respectively, while 2000 NCAA champions Dowdie and Keisha Spencer each represented Jamaica.

At the 2001 World Championships in Edmonton, a pair of LSU athletes each brought home gold medals as Derrick Brew ran on the United States' 4x400-meter relay team and Parris ran on Jamaica's World Championship mile relay squad. In addition, Walter Davis established himself as one of the world's top up-and-coming jumpers as the Louisiana native finished fifth in the triple jump in only his second major international competition.

LSU's success on the world stage continued in the summer of 2003 as five former athletes all placed at the World Championships in Paris. Both Brew and Ronetta Smith medaled as Brew won gold as part of the United States' 4x400-meter relay team and Smith secured bronze as a member of Jamaica's 4x400 relay. Also securing Top 10 finishes were Walter Davis in the long jump (seventh), Laverne Eve in the javelin (eighth) and Claston Bernard in the decathlon (ninth).

At the 2004 World Indoor Championships, former Tigers Alleyne Francique and Lueroy Colquhoun won gold for their native countries of Grenada and Jamaica, respectively. Francique won the individual crown in the 400 meters, while Colquhoun helped Jamaica to a first-place finish in the 4x400-meter relay.

The 2004 Olympics in Athens, Greece, were a showcase for LSU talent past and present as 15 athletes with ties to the program made the trip overseas and brought home a total of six Olympic medals. Brew, Kelly Willie and John Moffitt each medaled for the United States. Brew won bronze in the 400 meters before joining forces with Willie to win gold in the 4x400-meter relay. Moffitt was part of a 1-2 American finish in the long jump, finishing second in his first major international competition. On the women's side, Nadia Davy and Ronetta Smith each brought home medals. Running for their native country of Jamaica, the two earned bronze as members of the 4x400-meter relay team.

The 2005 World Championships were once again peppered with current and former LSU athletes as 13 Tigers and Lady Tigers made the trip to Helsinki, Finland. Four former standouts turned in stellar performances while bringing home medals from the championship meet. Davis won individual gold for the United States, taking home the men's triple jump title. Lee and Brew also helped the United States' to gold-medal-winning performances in the women's 4x100 relay and the men's 4x400-meter relay, respectively. In addition, Smith helped Jamaica to a silver medal in the women's 4x400-meter relay.

Davis added another individual gold medal in the triple jump to his resume at the 2006 IAAF World Indoor Championships when he posted a personal best and meet-winning leap of 58-2 for the United States. Francique added the second world championship of his stellar career at the indoor meet as he won gold in the 400 meters while competing for Grenada.

Davis took his place on the medal stand once again as he won a bronze medal in the triple jump at the 2007 IAAF World Outdoor Championships in Osaka, Japan. The Baton Rouge native was one of 10 current and former LSU athletes to compete in the prestigious event and the only one to bring home a medal. Lady Tiger great Lolo Jones then added her name to LSU's list of athletes to be crowned World Champion with her win in the 60-meter hurdles at the 2008 IAAF World Indoor Championships in Valencia, Spain.

The Coaches

LSU track and field has been blessed with exceptional coaching talent, but during its first 18 years, LSU did not have a coach whose tenure lasted more than three seasons. The program's first full-time coach was Tad Gormley, who arrived on the Baton Rouge campus in 1916. During his 12-year stint, LSU won three SIAA titles.

After Gormley's departure, the legendary Bernie Moore took over the program in 1930. Moore molded the the Tigers into a national power, and in 1933, guided the team to its first national championship, as well as a win at the inaugural SEC Outdoor Track and Field Championships. The Tigers reigned over the young Southeastern Conference by capturing 12 championships in the next 18 seasons under Moore.

Former Tiger great Al Moreau then took over the program in 1949, and LSU track and field never broke stride. Under Moreau, LSU captured six SEC Outdoor titles and two SEC Indoor crowns. LSU track and field then reached its zenith under the direction of head coach Pat Henry, and what he accomplished in 17 seasons was nothing short of remarkable.

The most successful coach in school history in any sport, Henry became only the second coach in NCAA history to win 20 NCAA titles as the Lady Tigers came away victorious at the 2000 NCAA Outdoor Championships in Durham, N.C. Henry then added seven additional NCAA team titles to his resume before his departure in 2004. In his 17 years in Baton Rouge, Henry guided the Lady Tigers to 12 outdoor and 10 indoor titles, while leading his Tigers to three outdoor crowns and two indoor titles.

Dennis Shaver can now add his name alongside the likes of Moore, Henry and Sam Seemes as coaches to lead LSU to a national championship as head coach. Shaver guided the Lady Tigers to their 25th national championship and the 31st team title in the history of LSU track and field with a win at the NCAA Outdoor meet in 2008. The Lady Tigers have also won three SEC titles under Shaver.

Richard Thompson at the 2008 Texas Relays

For many collegiate programs across the country, the Clyde Littlefield Texas Relays marks the true beginning of the outdoor season as many of the nation's top teams travel to Mike A. Myers Stadium in Austin for one of the most prestigious meets during the regular season. LSU is world famous for the performance of its men's and women's relay teams, and its success at the Texas Relays rivals that of any program in the NCAA. The Tigers and Lady Tigers have combined for 56 relay titles and 65 individual titles in the University division at the Texas Relays, and the squads will be looking to add to their impressive resume in 2009.

2008 Penn Relays 4x100 Relay Champions

Each year, track athletes from around the world converge on historic Franklin Field in Philadelphia for the annual Penn Relay Carnival to take part in one of the true spectacles in the sport of track and field. The LSU track and field program is one of the feature attractions year in and year out as the Tigers and Lady Tigers put their talent on display for the more than 100,000 fans that fill the stands to make the Penn Relays one of the unique events in all of sports. The teams have won a combined 57 Championship of America relay titles, while having 49 athletes crowned University champions throughout the storied history of the meet.

By winning four Championship of America relay titles at the 114th running of the Penn Relays a year ago, the Lady Tigers became the winningest program in meet history as their 29 total relay titles all-time is more than any other women's program in collegiate track and field. In fact, LSU made history in 2008 by winning a combined six relay titles between the men's and women's teams, which is a meet record for a combined program.

ABBREVIATIONS AND NOTES

c = time converted from yard equivalent y = time achieved at yard equivalent s = 200m time on straightaway
w = wind-aided decathlon or heptathlon (over 4.0 mps)
* = decathlon or heptathlon rescored on 1985 IAAF Tables

In running events, hand times are carried in 10ths, while automatic times are carried in 100ths. Hand times are placed with auto times by adding either 0.24 seconds (for events less than 400m), or 0.14 seconds (400m and up) to the hand time. Starting in 1980, only automatic times were accepted for events less than 400 meters. With the exception of the decathlon. Wind-aided performances are not eligible for these lists.

The Lady Tigers' string of 11 consecutive NCAA titles from 1987-1997 is an astounding accomplishment unmatched at the Division I level in any women's collegiate sport. From its beginning in Baton Rouge in 1987 to its conclusion in 1997 at Indiana University, the streak was filled with some of the most incredible performances and amazing athletes in Lady Tiger track history. It was a streak with everything: down to the wire finishes, blowouts, gut-wrenching drama, all the things legends are made of. While the names and faces responsible for the 11 titles changed, the level of consistency and drive to ascend to the pinnacle of the sport remained throughout the streaks entirety. The following is a look back at the Lady Tigers' remarkable streak.

For more than 20 years, LSU's men's and women's relay teams have been a hallmark of the Tigers' track and field program at the NCAA Championships. LSU is the only school to ever win both the men's and women's 4x100-meter relays in the same year. The Tigers have done so four times, winning consecutive championships between 1992-94 and again in 2003.

From the Penn Relays and the Texas Relays to the NCAA Championships, LSU relay teams are one of the biggest attractions in NCAA track and field. The following is a look at LSU's year-by-year finishes in the 4x100-meter relay at the NCAA Championships.

The Tigers school-record-breaking time of 38.24 at the 1998 NCAA Outdoor Championships went down as the third-fastest 4x100-meter relay time in NCAA history. The Lady Tigers have left their mark in the NCAA record books as well, dominating the NCAA's all-time 4x100-meter relay list over the years. In addition to owning the collegiate record, the Lady Tigers have run six of the 10 fastest times in NCAA history.
